PROUDEST MOMENT for Archie McKinnon at testimonial dinner in Empress Hotel marking his 50-year association with YMCA Wednesday night was when Mayor R. B. Wilson presented him resolution of city council making him city's fifth freeman.

Behind is Don Ross, president of Gyro Club which sponsored dinner, and which made first contribution to fund for an Archie McKinnon swimming pool, centre of new building to be erected. Mrs. Dorothy McKinnon is on right.

ONE OF ARCHIE'S many moods during testimonial dinner Wednesday announced today a provincial general election will be held Monday, June 17.

'FREEMAN OF VICTORIA'

Archie to Receive City's High Honor

By IAIN HUNTER

The highest honor which a city can bestow will be given by Victoria to Archie McKinnon, it was announced Wednesday night.

Mayor R. B. Wilson told an audience of 400 at a testimonial dinner at the Empress Hotel for the former Olympic and YMCA coach, that city council had voted unanimously to make Archie a freeman of the city.

He will be the fifth man to be so honored. The resolution was made at a special meeting of the committee of the whole April 11. Date for the formal ceremony, to be held in council chamber, has yet to be announced.

"This is the most delightful occasion which has occurred in Victoria for a very long time," the mayor told the gathering of municipal reeves, B.C. government representatives, Gyro Club and YMCA officials and friends.

"It is the desire of the whole community to pay tribute to you," he told Archie, to whom the honor came as a surprise. The resolution read:

Quick Columbia Action Seen in Mike-JFK Talk

By HAROLD MORRISON

WASHINGTON (CP) — A high administrative source said today President Kennedy is concerned about a heavy flow of U.S. investment funds to Canada and its impact on U.S. international dollar deficits.

He also feels there is an urgent need to remove barriers to final implementation of the Columbia River power treaty.

This informant, close to the president, said Kennedy is ready to renegotiate the Columbia River treaty if Prime Minister Pearson so demands. But Kennedy's view is that any renegotiation must be limited. Otherwise the U.S. would feel Canada had broken her bargain to join in launching the big west coast power development.

This informant said also that Kennedy, in meeting with Pearson at Hyannis Port, Mass., Friday and Saturday, will seek to reconcile differences which under the Diefenbaker administration almost led to a complete breakdown in Canadian-American relations during the last 12 months.

'STIFF ATTITUDE'
It was the view in Kennedy's circle that this slowdown in relations arose not because of a U.S. working paper that may have fallen into Diefenbaker's hands, but because the Progressive Conservatives adopted a stiff attitude toward the U.S. in the attempt to recoup losses at the polls.

Kennedy feels unfinished business with the previous Canadian administration — the Columbia River treaty and Canadian acquisition of nuclear warheads — should be cleared up quickly.

This source emphasized that the U.S. will not charge Canada any money for Bomarc nuclear warheads which will remain under U.S. custody and control.

There will be no pressure by Kennedy that Pearson move quickly on this point. In the same way, Kennedy is willing to ease pressure that Canada join the Organization of American States.

SEEK PARALLEL VIEWS
The spirit of Hyannis Port, he suggested, would be one of seeking parallel views on issues confronting the two countries. Some issues may be difficult to resolve because the Liberal leader has some strong views on international matters that may not be in accord with U.S. policy.

Kennedy would like Canadians to show more care about borrowing large sums in the U.S. financial market.

Aside from the political problem created by increased American investments in Canada, the U.S. government is trying to curtail the exodus of U.S. dollars and gold. Kennedy is concerned about the flow of U.S. dollars to Canada but the informant said he has no solution in mind and certainly will not impose government restrictions on the export of dollars. It is simply something he wants to discuss with Pearson.

Noting that Canada's trade with Cuba has been drastically reduced over the last year, the informant said it would be Kennedy's hope that Canada might take still other measures to restrict trade and relations with Cuba but again this would be left for Pearson to decide. No pressure would be exerted.

The U.S. also is unhappy about Canada's wheat sales to Red China but after reviewing the strong support the Prairie provinces gave to the Progressive Conservatives in the last election, the administration has concluded there is little it can do to persuade the new Canadian government to change this sales policy.

BIG CROWD EXPECTED AT ARRIVALS

HYANNIS PORT, Mass. (AP) — President Kennedy and Prime Minister Pearson who arrive simultaneously Friday for a weekend meeting, will be greeted by a crowd of thousands at Otis Air Force base near here.

Base Commander Col. Rudolph B. Walters announced today that the big airfield will be thrown open to the public at 10 a.m. EST in anticipation of the noon arrivals by the president and Prime Minister — the first meeting since Pearson became head of the government of Canada.

Col. Walters announced that ten minutes after Kennedy arrives he is expected to greet the arriving Canadian prime minister.

Haiti Raises Race Issue Before UN

UNITED NATIONS (AP) — Haiti asked the United Nations Security Council Wednesday to halt what it called repeated threats of aggression by the Dominican Republic. The Dominican Republic quickly denied the charges and proposed that the Dominican-Haitian dispute be left in the hands of the Organization of American States.

Representatives of the two countries exchanged charges as the 11-nation council took up the problem at the request of Haiti. They spoke as the chairman of the OAS council sent word he was coming to New York to confer with Haitian Foreign Minister Rene Chalmers.

Haiti's bid for African and Soviet Bloc support appeared to be making little headway. Some African UN delegates questioned the wisdom of Chalmers in making the racial question a major factor in the Security Council's debate on the dispute.

'BLACK REPUBLIC'
Chalmers charged in the opening session of the debate that Dominican threats are part of an attempt to destroy "the only black republic in North America."

The U.S. continued removal by air of government dependents under the watchful eye of an American naval task force.

The first dependents of Canadian government employees in Haiti, ordered to leave the country as a safety measure, arrived in Miami Wednesday night.

About 375 Canadian Roman Catholic missionaries are remaining in Haiti but they probably will leave if the situation grows worse, a church spokesman said in Ottawa.

The anti-Duvalier underground has threatened an uprising by May 15. Meanwhile the OAS is without authority to intervene in what is essentially a Haitian affair.

NEGRO CHILDREN CLAIM MISTREATMENT IN JAIL

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP) — Negro teen-agers arrested in racial demonstrations here this week told reporters they were mistreated at county jails. Sheriff Melvin Bailey denied the charges.

Several youngsters said Wednesday they were struck by white guards, and one teen-age girl said she was placed in a sweat box for several hours.

"If we forgot to say 'Yes, Mam,' or 'Yes, Sir,' we were put in the sweat box," she said.

Bailey said county officers followed all proper procedures and denied that any of the demonstrators had been mistreated.

TALKS GOING ON

Shaky Truce In Alabama

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (UPI) — Negro and White leaders plunged into 11th-hour negotiations today in an attempt to head off another outbreak of civil rights demonstrations.

Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., leader of the massive racial protests that have sent more than 2,200 Negroes to jail, and two of his aides departed abruptly from their motel shortly before noon, en route to a conference.

It was learned that top leaders representing the white community also had been summoned to another negotiating session somewhere in the city.

A shaky truce prevailed. Negro leaders said they were hopeful that some accord could be reached prior to a news conference called by King.

While the talks were going on, a large force of helmeted state troopers patrolled the vicinity of a park adjoining the Negro Baptist Church that has been the rallying point for the Negro demonstrations.

More than 600 officers were on duty in the city and local authorities expressed confidence they could maintain order.

REJECTION?

There was some speculation the President might have received a formal rejection from Premier Khrushchev, but this could not be confirmed. However, U.S. Ambassador Foy D. Kohler and under-secretary of State Averell Harriman already had reported the Russian leaders showed no enthusiasm for the proposal.

Kennedy said Russia and the West appeared to "be moving away from" an agreement and "if we don't get it now, I would think generally the genie is out of the bottle and we will never get him back in."

Bogus Money, Gang Caught

MONTREAL (CP) — RCMP said today a series of raids has uncovered $140,000 in counterfeit U.S. bills, bogus money orders and counterfeit railway passes.

The RCMP is holding one man for questioning and a woman and two other men have been turned over to city police for questioning.

Killings Mark Strife in Syria

DAMASCUS, Syria (AP) — Pro-Nasser rioting and gunfire were reported again today in Damascus and Aleppo as the crisis between Nasserites and the ruling Ba'ath Socialists party continued in Syria.

Casualties were indicated in the northern city of Aleppo, where the army was trying to maintain a curfew. The government said a policeman was killed there Wednesday, many police were injured and a large number of arrests made.

A Western diplomat in Aleppo reported by telephone that crowds turned out in the pro-Nasser quarters of the ancient city. He said heavy gunfire was heard, followed by light firing through the morning.

The diplomat said most of the shooting apparently was directed into the crowds and "the army appears to have the situation in hand."

STUDENTS RIOT

In Damascus, hundreds of students shouting support for President Nasser seized control of Damascus High School and fired stones from the roof for three hours at police in the street below. Riot police finally dispersed the students by firing shots in the air.

Four other pro-Nasser demonstrations were reported in other sections of the city. The reports said armored cars moved in troops broke up the demonstrations by firing into the air.

No casualties were reported among the Damascus demonstrators, but several policemen were hurt by stones.

STORE CLERK ACCUSED OF SALES

Alky Kills N.Y. Derelicts

NEW YORK (AP) — The death toll from wood alcohol poisoning among Bowery derelicts may reach 31, officials say. Autopsies continued today on suspected victims of the lethal liquid.

A hardware store clerk has been accused of selling wood alcohol that killed two of the derelicts.

Additional autopsies Wednesday disclosed that at least 10

deaths among Bowery men resulted from imbibing wood alcohol, with 21 additional deaths apparently due to the same cause.

Several deaths attributed to drinking the alcohol were reported earlier in the week in Brooklyn.

David Feit, 65, employed in a Lower East Side hardware store, was arrested Wednesday night on a homicide charge, accused of selling "denatured" alcohol which caused the deaths of two persons.

Assistant District Attorney Ernest H. Hammer said pint cans of alcohol sold last Sunday were clearly labelled "specially denatured solvent" and bore a skull and crossbones.

There were 19 patients in Bellevue Hospital with suspected alcohol poisoning.

ALBERTA ELECTION JUNE 17

EDMONTON (CP) — Premier E. C. Manning of Alberta announced today a provincial general election will be held Monday, June 17.

The government received a five-year mandate in 1959 but traditionally has called an election every four years.

It will be the seventh time the Social Credit government has gone to the people for a mandate — the sixth under Premier Manning — since it swept into power under William Aberhart in 1935. Mr. Manning became premier June 1, 1943, shortly after the death of Mr. Aberhart.

In the last general election, June 18, 1959, Social Credit received a record 53.68 per cent of the popular vote and captured 61 of 65 seats in the House.

Withdrawal Refused

McKINNON

"Whereas the members of this council recognize and appreciate the fine qualities of character and personality of Mr. Archie McKinnon, his good citizenship, and his devoted, unselfish and outstanding services, during 50 years with the Young Men's Christian Association, to Greater Victoria and British Columbia and Canada as a physical training instructor especially amongst the young people in swimming and diving and track events, and as Canadian diving coach for the 1932 Olympic games in Los Angeles, track coach for the 1936 Olympics in Berlin, swimming and diving coach for the 1948 Olympics in London, and swimming coach for the 1952 Olympics in Helsinki:

POWER BY STATUTE

"Therefore be it resolved that, in pursuance of the powers vested in the City Council by statute, the freedom of the City of Victoria, the capital of the province of British Columbia, be, and is, hereby conferred on Mr. McKinnon; and that a special meeting of council for the purpose of formally conferring this prime municipal honor on this highly esteemed and popular citizen be held at a time to be set by His Worship the Mayor."

When the proclamation had been read, the whole gathering rose to give Archie McKinnon a standing ovation as he received the scroll from the mayor.

SPECIAL MEETING

Mayor Wilson today said the ceremony will be at a special and formal council meeting in City Hall council chambers, which seats about 100 people.

It will be held, he said, "as soon as convenient."

The title "Freeman of the City of Victoria" means that Archie, in the words of the Municipal Act, is "deemed to be possessed of all the qualifications" to be nominated, elected, and to hold office as mayor.

His name will be placed at the head of the electoral list. Only four others have received the title:

Viscount Willingdon, late governor-general of Canada, in 1927; the late philanthropist and founder of Butchart Gardens, R. P. Butchart, in 1928; U.S. swimmer of the Strait of Juan de Fuca, Bert Thomas, in 1955; and former Lieutenant-Governor Frank McKenzie Ross, in 1959.

QUEBEC

The FLQ statement which referred to Mr. O'Neill's death was the first sign that the terrorist group claimed it had a part to play in the bombing.

It described the death as "an untoward accident," but said that "a revolution, unfortunately, cannot be carried off without blood flowing."

'EXPLOITERS' GUILTY

"The guilty ones in this death are not the patriots," the statement said. "They are all the exploiters, all the vile collaborators who have forced Quebec patriots to take up arms for the freedom of the nation."

Referring to the placing of a bomb May 3 near the offices of Solbec Copper Mines, the FLQ statement said:

"We give Solbec one week to settle its dispute with its miners. Otherwise, we shall have to place the matter before the R.T.Q.P." Solbec miners have been on strike for almost 11 weeks.

The time-bomb, spotted in a shoe box near the Solbec offices, was dismantled by a police bomb expert two minutes before it was scheduled to go off.

The explosion at the Royal Canadian Legion hall in St. Johns caused about $1,000 damages to the front of the brick building.

In its statement, the FLQ bitterly attacked members of the legion, whose members were described as "vile traitors."

"Every member of this organization automatically disowns his fellow-countrymen and the Quebec nation," the statement added.

'SMALL' SHOTS PLANNED IN NEVADA

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP)—The United States will touch off two small nuclear blasts—one above ground—at the Nevada test site this month, it was announced Wednesday.

The atmospheric shot will be the first announced above-surface nuclear blast in the United States since last July 17.

The Atomic Energy Commission gave no specific date and said the blasts will be part of a defence research program.

All three explosions will be below a kiloton—1,000 tons of TNT—in power.

'CURTAIN OF FEAR'

Music Student Slain in Boston

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. (AP)—A curtain of fear hung over the greater Boston area today in the wake of the brutal slaying of a 25-year-old music student in her apartment off Harvard Square.

The body of Miss Beverly Samans of Beckley, W. Va., a graduate student at Boston University who was preparing for an audition with the Metropolitan Opera, was found Wednesday night.

The slaying revived fears caused by the eight other unsolved stranglings of women in greater Boston since June.

Dr. Peter A. Delmonico, medical examiner, said cause of death was a stab wound through the heart. There were 15 stab wounds on the body, he said. "A person who would inflict brutality of this sort was not of sound mind," Delmonico said. The doctor said there was no evidence of rape.

Two kerchiefs and a nylon stocking were knotted around the victim's throat in an apparent strangling attempt. But "they did not cause death," the doctor said.

He placed the time of death as sometime after 11 p.m. Sunday night.

POLICE FIND BODY

Miss Samans' body, clad in a negligee, her hands tied behind her back, was found on a bed in her two-room apartment by police after they were called by Oliver Chamberlain, 33, an acquaintance of the girl.

There was no sign of a struggle or of forced entry, police said. They found the front door unlocked.

The first six victims were all middle-aged or elderly; the last three all in their 20s.

All except one lived alone. Several, including Miss Samans, had some connection with Boston's hospitals.

Miss Samans, the only child of Mr. and Mrs. Herman Samans, had done musical therapy at an institution for retarded children.

'WORKED HAND IN GLOVE' WITH MANAGEMENT

SIU Chief Blasts Ex-Minister

By HAROLD MORRISON
WASHINGTON, (CP)—The Seafarers International Union of Canada today accused former labor minister Michael Starr of having worked "hand in glove" with the management of the Upper Lakes Shipping Company of Toronto in its fight with the SIU.

The union, in a bulky report submitted to the SIU North American convention, also charged that the federal commission headed by Mr. Justice T. G. Norris of British Columbia, investigating the Great Lakes labor battle, showed bias against the Seafarers.

Prepared by Harold C. Banks, Canadian SIU leader, the report said if the Norris commission findings resemble the conduct of the hearings, the results can be expected to be derogatory for the SIU.

"We are prepared for this and have planned appropriate steps," the Ohio-born Banks told the convention in relating his version of two years of union strife on the Great Lakes—rooted in the rivalry between the Canadian Maritime Union, supported by the Canadian Labor Congress, and the SIU, which had been expelled from the CLC for union raiding.

Claiming that the Upper Lakes Company of Toronto is controlled by the Norris Grain Company of Chicago, the SIU said it has no doubt that Starr, labor minister in the previous Diefenbaker administration, worked to assist the Norris family "with their labor-busting attempts."

"The commission failed in this purpose. The fight is going on stronger than ever before... the wheel now has turned a full circle in this beef."

The SIU said last year the CMU threatened to replace the SIU on the Great Lakes, but this year the CLC wanted to merge the CMU with the SIU and readmit the SIU to the CLC provided Banks and his executive quit.

With a new Liberal government in power, the Toronto company and the CLC "are not finding the same willing ears that they did before."

Grenade Kills Seven

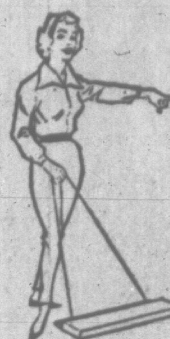

SAIGON, Viet Nam (UPI)—A hand grenade hurled into a crowd of 3,000 persons in the South Vietnamese city of Hue killed seven persons and injured six others Wednesday, a government spokesman said today.

Meanwhile, the SIU continues to organize, claiming it now has 85 companies under contract in the shipping and dredging fields, representing "over 90 per cent of the maritime industries in Canada."

From his home in Ottawa, Mr. Starr said the charge he had worked hand in glove with Upper Lakes is "absolutely untrue."

In a telephone interview, the former labor minister also said the allegation that he assisted in "labor-busting" tactics was "sheer nonsense."

Mr. Starr said Mr. Justice Norris was a "very competent person" to appoint as a commissioner investigating the Great Lakes labor disruption and that the British Columbia justice had conducted the inquiry "with a great deal of thoroughness."

Archie - This Is Your Life

Fans Launch Pool Fund

By IAIN HUNTER

Archie McKinnon sat down to dinner Wednesday night with 400 of his countless friends.

There were civic, municipal and provincial dignitaries, fellow Gyro Club members, and YM and YWCA officials.

There were members of every Canadian Olympic and British Empire Games team with which Archie had been associated since 1932.

There were men and women who, when youngsters, had been taught by him to swim. Many of their children, who more recently came under Archie's wing at the "Y", were there too.

They Love Him

They came to Archie's testimonial dinner at the Empress Hotel because they loved him. But even at "his" night, he was there to help others—the youngsters of Greater Victoria.

The little man humbly accepted the freedom of the city from Mayor R. B. Wilson. (See page 1.)

He gratefully acknowledged the plaque and life membership which his Gyro brothers presented him, and beamed when his wife Dorothy received tributes.

When track and swimming athletes Bruce Humber, Bill Dale, Art Stott, Bob Hutchinson and Bob Wheaton recounted episodes of his coaching days, he laughed till the tears ran down his cheeks.

Eyes Brimming

There were tears in his eyes, too, when men like Pete Salmon who sent a telegram, admitted they owed everything to Archie.

The hall rose to its feet clapping, whistling and shouting as an oil painting by local artist Allan Edwards, of the coach in white sweatshirt was unveiled.

They cheered when chairman of the YM-YWCA-building fund drive Hugh Stephen announced a special drive for construction of $100,000 25-metre Archie McKinnon pool in the new building would be opened that night.

High Tribute

Lands and Forest Minister Ray Williston, who officially opened the pool fund drive, said "some people invest of themselves in others... such a man is Archie McKinnon."

"He invested his life in others. The fund cannot fail."

First $1,000 of the money for the special pool fund, included in the overall $1,138,000 cost of the building, was donated at the dinner by the Gyro club.

"We are met here this evening with gratitude in our hearts and warm memories crowding our minds to pay homage to a lifetime of effort on behalf of others by one man," Mr. Stephen said.

Defends 'Y'

The fund drive chairman said he had had to defend the YMCA from a considerable amount of "petty criticism" from selfish people.

"But I have a standard answer to the critics. It is effective and devastating in its finality."

"It is only in two words: Archie McKinnon," he said. It was the name, he explained, of "a loveable, generous, gallant, Christian man."

Sprinter Bruce Humber recalled that Archie was doctor, psychologist, coach, manager, and "father confessor" to members of teams which he took to compete abroad.

Time for All

"Archie would rather coach boys and girls with not so much ability, but who were willing to give their best effort. He has always given as much time to the worst member of the team as to the best," he said.

"The biggest thing in my life has been my association with Archie."

Middle distance runner Bill Dale said it was not the track meets themselves which stood out so much as the trips to and from them.

"He used to collect money for kids who couldn't afford to go, and he was always there to listen to our troubles," he said.

British Empire Games and Olympic diver Art Stott said it was not only his coaching ability which he remembered, "but the marvelous friendship which he is able to impart, and which makes the day brighter."

Always There

Sprinter Bob Hutchinson recalled Archie turning up at trials and meets abroad in which he was in no way officially involved.

"He would disappear just as quickly after it was over," he said.

"He was never a win-at-all-costs coach."

"He cares not how we win or lose but how we play the game," Mr. Hutchinson quoted. Swimmer Bob Wheaton

Import Surcharges Face Test in Court

OTTAWA (CP)—A test case has been launched in the Exchequer Court of Canada challenging the validity of the special import surcharges imposed by the federal government as part of its emergency austerity program last June.

At stake, if the surcharges should be ruled invalid, are all the government's collections of the special import levies totaling perhaps $100,000,000.

A petition of right has been filed in court by the Ottawa legal firm of Gowing, MacTavish, Osborn and Henderson, on behalf of a chain of ladies' wear shops, Reitman's Limited, seeking recovery of the surcharges it has paid.

A spokesman for the law firm said Wednesday that 20 to 30 other clients have asked that similar legal action be taken on their behalf.

Organization Begins For Park Programs

Recreational programs, already being organized for the 18 playgrounds in the Saanich area, will go into operation July 2 and run to August 15. Over 45,000 children flocked to the parks last year to take part in the organized sports and craft activities.

As well as badminton, volleyball and softball games, Lloyd Sinclair, senior supervisor of the Saanich parks, is organizing an inter-park softball competition.

Added to last year's crafts of ceramics, weaving with plastics, shell and copper work will be stoneware work.

Another attraction this summer will be a gymnastic show in Hampton Park one night a week by the boys from the YMCA.

AGES FIVE TO 14

The summer parks and recreational program is planned for children between the ages of five and 14.

Mr. Sinclair will speak on this year's program at the Doncaster PTA annual meeting tonight in the school auditorium.

For children in Victoria, playgrounds opening July 2 include Central, Beacon Hill, Oaklands, Banfield, Topaz, Hollywood, Stadacona, MacDonald and Redfern.

Swimming instruction will be given at the Crystal Garden at 9 a.m. on Tuesdays for boys and Fridays for girls.

Starting at 2 p.m. July 8 tennis instruction will be given in Central Park and in Stadacona Park on Wednesdays.

Special events to be held this summer will include a sandbox contest July 19, fishing derby July 26, tennis tournament July 31 and final activities at Central Park Aug. 7.

The Way to Honor Archie

VICTORIA HAS PAID A unique honor to its favorite citizen, Archie McKinnon. Last night's testimonial dinner to the man whose name is synonymous with YMCA and good works here — and the announcement that he is to be made a freeman of the city — provided adequate proof of the regard in which he is held.

These were tributes conferred on a man not simply because he has gained international prominence in athletics as Canada's coach at several Olympic Games, nor because he has a record of high accomplishment in developing athletic stars.

It was an impressive gesture of appreciation for an out-giving personality whose principles and attitude to his fellows, young and old, make him the type after whom the good citizen can be patterned.

There was no question of the sincerity with which the accolades were bestowed upon Archie McKinnon.

But the highest tribute that could be paid him lies not in expressions of appreciation to him as a person. It can be found in most practical form by open-hearted support of the institution he so ably represents.

Archie McKinnon will be honored in practical terms to the degree in which this community supports the new YM-YWCA building campaign. The Y has been Archie's life. The proposed new home for it, with a memorial swimming pool in his name, will fittingly crown his work for all that is good in the association.

Business, industrial and commercial concerns across Canada have shown very clearly their faith in the work of the YMCA and YWCA by donating generously to the fund to give the combined associations a new and appropriate home here. They recognize the value of such institutions to the community — institutions which produce people like Archie McKinnon and others who work selflessly to stimulate the growth of Canadians in spirit, mind and body.

In contrast, it is somewhat disappointing to learn that Greater Victoria, which will benefit most from improved facilities, has been tardy in its support of the advance appeal for this worthwhile cause.

The campaign for local public contributions has now been launched. Victorians will render tribute to Archie McKinnon — and those countless other youths, men, girls and women who have done so much for good citizenship — by giving with an open hand now.

The Menace on the Road

MR. MERLIN W. DONALD, Montreal, vice-president of the All Canada Insurance Federation, has re-emphasized the responsibility, as a class, of male drivers between the ages of 20 and 23.

This group, and the age limits are somewhat flexible in different localities, is stigmatized by the accident statistics compiled by motor-vehicle authorities. After 23, say the experts, such drivers tend to become more responsible, show a higher regard for the rights of other drivers and pedestrians on the road.

Because these youths and young men are accident-prone, insurance companies charge them higher premiums — the average for the age category runs about 65 per cent above the charge for adult drivers.

But the safety authorities, automobile associations and insurance people find that these young men become more safety conscious and are better drivers if they have taken and passed special courses in driver education.

Hence they favor such training in high school, not merely to teach the young person the mechanical operation of a car, but to instill in him the attitudes of courtesy, consideration and caution which are the hallmarks of good, safe driving.

The insurance people recognize the benefits of such training by granting graduates of a Triple A-approved driving school special discounts on their insurance. It may run to 5 per cent in the first year and rise to 15 per cent in three, depending on the performance of the safe-driving school certificate holder.

This centres attention once more on the widely advocated proposal to make driving courses available to all high school children. Today and in the future few Canadians will go through life without driving a car. If their attitudes can be so conditioned in youth that they avoid unnecessary risks, the chances are that the cost of accidents, including the ultimate cost of human life, will be substantially reduced.

But if high school safe driving courses are desirable, who is to pay for them? Charges in Edmonton run from $25 a pupil in high school to $38 for adults.

Should student costs be paid by the parents of individual pupils? And if so, who finances the child whose father and mother cannot pay? Is the son or daughter of a poor family to be refused driver education available to the more affluent?

Of course most young people learn to drive and are often taught by not very competent friends or parents. The teaching, moreover, does not always include development of the proper attitude toward others on the part of the student driver. Expert instructors are needed. But can a community containing and educating several thousand high school students afford this type of service at $25 a head?

More Than a Misunderstanding

A REPRESENTATIVE OF THE South African embassy said in Victoria this week that his country had had to leave the Commonwealth because of a "great deal of misunderstanding." There may be misunderstanding about some of the principles on which South Africa is basing its domestic policies, but there can be little misunderstanding about the concrete laws which that country establishes in order to carry out its policies.

They appear in cold type on the statute books and show the lengths to which the government is being driven to enforce policies which run counter to the "winds of change" currently sweeping the continent. Negro protests against restrictions bring on still stricter police action, which in turn tends to drive native reaction underground and into channels of violence. When men are not allowed to speak in public for their rights they turn to more subversive methods.

Now South Africa has taken a further step along the road to the police state. The General Law Amendment Act, promulgated this month, gives to police authorities a power never allowed in any democratic system. Ostensibly designed to meet the threat of natives' sabotage, it can apply to whites as well as blacks.

Under the new law a person suspected of anti-State activity can be held by the police for ninety days. The detention can be renewed indefinitely, and without the right of appeal to the courts.

Thus a political prisoner who has served his sentence may be returned immediately to prison for continuing ninety-day periods and be powerless to regain his freedom.

No country upholding democratic justice could sustain such a law. The police machines of Hitler and Stalin began in much the same way their arbitrary use of power. And how can such a law do other than increase justifiable resentment, and the violence of those on whom its weight falls?

No Ears to Lend

THE LAW-MAKERS OF Springfield, Illinois, believe — or a number of them do — that the spectator attending a sports event needs protection from his fellows who take mechanical noise-makers with them. The house judiciary committee has voted in favor of a proposal to make ringing of cowbells or sounding of sirens at such affairs a misdemeanor punishable by a $25 fine.

More power to the Springfield law-makers — and may their example spread.

For hundreds of people who enjoy sport spectacles, the hideous din created by some other spectators who seem more intent on making noise than on appreciating the play is intolerable. And it happens not just in Springfield.

Perhaps the time has come for similar action in Victoria. The Illinois group is not stuffy. The sponsor of the measure to impose a fine on users of mechanical noise-makers would let spectators hoot, boo, hiss, scream, or yell "Kill the umpire". But there are limits.

Let's insist on a little more consideration for the fan with normally sensitive eardrums. For the others, there are always Highland Games with their piping contests, or symphonies featuring the works of some of the more modern composers.

Hemispheric Policy: Two-Legged Stool

By WALTER LIPPMANN

THE events in Haiti illustrate how great has been the change during the past 30 years in our relations with the Latin countries to the south of us.

The Republic of Haiti has rarely been anything but a bloody tyranny, and in 1915 the United States landed the Marines and governed the country for the next 19 years. Now once again Haiti is seething with violence. But now, while in an extreme emergency we might have to go in once more to protect lives, we are bound by treaties with the other American republics to avoid intervention and to work through the Organization of American States.

The reason we signed the treaties which forbid us to intervene now is that all the American republics insisted upon it. They felt strongly that if the United States did not renounce unilateral intervention, their dignity as fully sovereign states was degraded.

Not Easy

We signed the treaties, and now we are learning in Cuba and in Haiti that it is not easy for 20 divergent republics to form a single, decisive and effective international policy.

Increasingly I have come to think that our hemispheric policy is a two-legged stool which does not stand up. The policy is built upon the notion that in the Western Hemisphere the international order revolves on a north-south axis which extends from Washington to the Latin-speaking republics.

It is, I think a fallacious conception. Since the generation of the founding fathers of the United States, the international order of the Western Hemisphere has been triangular as between the United States, the mother countries of Europe and the liberated colonies.

Tacit Understanding

Thus, the Monroe Doctrine was a tacit and unwritten understanding between Britain and the United States. Britain was then eight years from Waterloo, and she commanded the seas; the United States, as John Quincy Adams, the chief author of the Monroe Doctrine, said, was "a cockroach in the wake of the British man-of-war."

By the beginning of this century, Britain was locked in the coming struggle with Germany, and the United States, under President Theodore Roosevelt, accepted the responsibility of becoming a world power on its own. But except for a few specialized students, the Americans were never taught that the Monroe Doctrine rested on the unavowed arrangement with Great Britain and the power of the British fleet. Later on in this century, the idea took root that the United States was, if not dominant, then at least ascendant in the whole hemisphere.

We had realized that our repeated interventions in Haiti and elsewhere aroused the anger and resentment of the other American republics, we moved to join with them in creating the multilateral system which now exists.

The system does not work very well, and at bottom this is, I think, because there is missing the third leg of the stool which is European presence and participation in this hemisphere.

The candid students of hemispheric affairs tell us that the Alliance for Progress is riddled with anti-American feeling. If we ask ourselves why, the answer is, I think, that we are much too powerful and too rich to have a trusting relationship with countries that are so weak and so poor. We should not leave the Latin-American countries in the position where, if they cannot get help from us, they have no alternative but to turn to Russia.

If this is correct, then the right course is to encourage other friendly countries to take not only an economic, but also a cultural and political part in the affairs of the Western Hemisphere. Our solitary pre-eminence today should be reduced and diluted by the presence of the European Economic Community, by Britain and Scandinavia and, of course, by Spain and Portugal.

Axis Fallacy

We shall not, I think, be able to make orderly progress in this hemisphere as long as the fallacy of the north-south axis prevails. We should remind ourselves of the geography of the globe and of the spiritual and cultural consequences of this geography.

We in the United States are nearer to Western Europe than we are to most of South America, and most of South America is nearer to the outposts of Europe than it is to us. As we learn to invest our Latin-American policy with such realities and the truths which grow upon them, we shall be better able to work out a stable foundation for our policy.

Venom

I am sure there will be many of your readers as dismayed as I to see the venom displayed in the letter from "Seattle Visitor".

Luckily these letters seem to be few and far between; the writer, justly ashamed of signing his or her name, leaves a bad taste in the mouth and a bad smell in the vicinity. "Yankee go home" in this case can be changed to "Yankee stay home." How I would hate to be one of the Visitor's neighbors!

I realize that Canadians do not blow their horns as much as some people expect, thus perhaps leaving the impression that we are not proud of Canada. And many a tired worker arriving home after a day's labor would be indignant to learn of his or her laziness.

Perhaps if Visitor would examine the ignorance which is found south of the line regarding their own country, not to mention any knowledge of Canada, this is one letter which would not have been written.

As near as Montana we were asked how we got our car over from England, and if Manitoba (where we were headed) was in Montana!

Did anyone see the young man on the Groucho Marx show the other night, who could not say in which states certain cities were? I had the answers ready, but this one was like the Seattle boy scouts who said that Washington State ran all the way up to Alaska. British Columbia? Never heard of it!

Stirring up this ill-feeling is like twisting the lion's tail, as they express it in England. A chancy sport and not to be indulged in even by those of mental deficiency.

Not Our Thunderbird

The reproduction on page 15 of your April 30 paper of the facade of the new Montreal Trust Building (Fort St.) interested me.

I had the privilege and pleasure some 12 years ago of producing the Indian opera "Tzinquaw." Before designing the set and costumes I spent a great deal of time in research and in consultation with people at the Provincial Museum. Then before going into production showed the designs to experts at the Museum and to Dr. Leechman, then Dominion anthropologist. I was assured that they were as authentic as the available records could warrant.

With this I feel I may criticize a couple of things in Mr. Andres Salgo's mural.

His "Thunderbirds" seem to me rather far away from the delightful conceptions of our own Indian people. I do not know much about Mexican art but these seem to have some of its "flavor."

In the background of the mural apparently are Indian teepees. Teepees were never known on the coast nor, to the best of my knowledge west of the Rockies, though there may have been some in the far interior. I cannot recall any mention in the diaries of the early explorers.

Surely so pretentious a work should have attempted greater authenticity.

If I may digress for a moment, it is interesting to speculate as to whether some Canadian artist might not have been capable of such a project. I have seen some excellent examples of the ceramic art done here in British Columbia, decorated with beautiful and accurate reproductions of our Indian designs.

Personally, I consider the development of art in all its forms in Canada much more important to our status of nationhood than some new-fangled sort of flag so blithely promised us in the last election.

Weapon, Not Tool

After reading your editorial entitled "Unfair to Britain" I was reminded of what the English economist, G. L. S. Shackle wrote on the question of tariffs: "Tariffs are weapons rather than tools. With a tool a man can benefit others while benefiting himself, but with a weapon he can only benefit himself by damaging others. Against the idea that tariffs can help a country to export its unemployment there is an overwhelming case both moral and

Platform Of Glory

By MAX FREEDMAN

THE announcement, long expected and long delayed, that Sir Winston Churchill will not seek re-election to the House of Commons brings to its inevitable end the greatest parliamentary career since the supremacy of Gladstone. One hopes that Churchill will continue to resist the empty distinction of an earldom which other Prime Ministers — Lloyd George, Baldwin, Eden, Attlee — allowed themselves to accept as solace for fallen greatness. No new title can enhance the glory which Churchill's name casts on freedom's immortal page.

Freedman

Place of Refuge

At the beginning of the war there was a plan to move both houses of Parliament to a place of refuge in the country when London felt the shock of the bombs. Churchill always disliked this plan but he was not yet in charge of the government and he had to abide by the arrangement. One of his first duties as prime minister was to issue an order that new plans should be considered to keep Parliament in session in London as an example of fortitude to the British people, no matter what the grim hazards of war might bring.

In May 1941 the House of Commons was wrecked by bombs, and Churchill wept as he saw the ruins. But even in that stricken hour he resolved that the chambers, whose voice has often rung like an impassioned trumpet to the world, would be rebuilt in victory and in its old form.

He kept that gallant promise. Parliament never missed one day's debate in the war, and today the House of Commons is all the more memorable for the dangers it endured.

Supreme Captains

Churchill, with Chatham and Lloyd George, ranks with the supreme captains of war who have led the British people through terror to triumph. Yet Churchill himself does not regard the tremendous war years as his time of greatest glory. He has told us in an unforgettable phrase that he "would have been torn to pieces" if he had counselled surrender. The British people did not need Churchill to find their genius for unshaken courage. They found it in their history and their own character.

It is honor enough for Churchill, or for any man, to be worthy of such a people in their years of mortal peril. Churchill has never wavered in his belief that he towered into matchless greatness in the period of neglect and criticism before 1939 when he called upon the world with prophetic but derided wisdom to stop the drift to war over the milestones of self-inflicted folly.

Incomplete Scene

When Churchill entered the House of Commons to make a big speech, he almost always waved to his wife in the gallery. If she was not present, the scene somehow seemed incomplete and he was unable to share his triumph with the one who meant the most to him. It used to be said that Parliament looked vacant when Gladstone was not in his place. The same impression was created by Churchill's absence. He has been for many years the indispensable member.

He won this status not only by his genius but by his humanity. No one took a greater delight than Churchill in a speech that dominated Parliament, even if he were its victim. He sent many notes of congratulation to James Maxton and Aneurin Bevan, for he relished their mastery in debate even while he shrank in abhorrence from their opinions.

Natural Comparison

Perhaps Clay or Webster had the same effect on their contemporaries. It is natural, indeed inevitable, to compare Churchill with the giants. Any other comparison would be false and misleading.

Churchill became an accomplished writer long before he became a respected speaker in Parliament. He remained the prisoner of a manuscript for many years, afraid to trust himself to the unpredictable currents of a changing debate. In the end he wore his genius as a daily garment, but always with a difference that betokened the incomparable master.

He had reason to bid farewell in sadness to his constituency of Woodford, for between him and it there had been an unbroken love affair. Of his first 15 elections, he lost five. He was facing oblivion when Woodford gave him sanctuary and Churchill turned it into a platform of glory. As long as freedom lives, the grandeur of Churchill will endure, and Woodford will never be excluded from its share in this tradition of greatness.

Gerald Waring ...REPORTING

OTTAWA — From now on, no doubt, Lester Bowles Pearson will be referred to officially as the Right Honorable Lester B. Pearson. This is because when he was in London last week the Queen honored him with appointment to Her Majesty's Privy Council for Great Britain, Northern Ireland and the dominions beyond the seas—or what is left of them.

Good for HM. She'll go a long way before she finds a wiser or more loyal counsellor than Mike Pearson.

But at the same time I am perturbed about the "right honorable" handle that Mr. P. will have for the rest of his life.

If it were applicable only when he was in Britain it would be tolerable. But I am that much of a nationalist that I don't want our Canadian prime minister being addressed by a foreign title in Canada.

"Right" in this sense means "very"—and that's how it translates into French: "tres honorable." All members of the British Privy Council are right honorable. All members of the Queen's Privy Council for Canada are merely honorable. Yet it would be absurd to suggest that British PCs are more honorable than Canadian PCs.

The real difference between Mike Pearson's "right honorable" and his Canadian "honorable" is the difference between an honorary university degree handed out because the college wants a "name" speaker at the convocation, and an earned doctorate with years of work behind it.

Any politician who would set greater store by a "Rt. Hon." in such circumstances than by the "Hon." that he gained by being judged worthy of the people's trust is letting his vanity run away with his common sense. I have never known a national leader more lacking in personal vanity than Mike Pearson. At the same time, he could not have been so childish as to refuse appointment to HM Privy Council for Britain. Technically it means the Queen wants him to be one of her advisers in her role as sovereign of a shrinking empire and head of a shaky commonwealth—and what loyal Canadian subject could turn a deaf ear to such call to service?

But I repeat: this is only the technical meaning. In practice it is the British government that advises the Queen on such matters, and the Canadian prime minister's advice would be asked only if the British prime minister desired it.

So there are now two styles of address that may properly be applied to Mr. Pearson. There is the empty but impressive "Rt. Hon." And there is the less impressive but vastly more meaningful "Hon." that Pearson earned.

It's all right for Britons to "Rt. Hon." our prime minister if they want to—like their calling Eisenhower "Sir Dwight" because King George made him a Knight Grand Cross of the Order of the Bath (GCB).

But for Canadians it's about as anomalous as Americans "Sir Dwighting" Ike. If we need a handle more prestigious than our PMs on occasions like Mr. Pearson's dinner Friday with the Honorable John F. Kennedy, we should cook up one of our own.

"The Most Exalted" would do nicely, because that's what the PM is. Of course, we'd have to clear it first with the Shriners, the Elks and the Moose . . .

FINAL preparations for planned 22-orbit space flight next Tuesday are being made at Cape Canaveral for astronaut Gordon Cooper, 36. Back-up pilot for the shot is Alan Shepard, who made the previous U.S. flight.

Does JFK Need Briefing on Canada?

By HAROLD MORRISON
WASHINGTON (CP)—President Kennedy says he intends to cover "the entire waterfront" of Canada-United States relations when he talks with Prime Minister Pearson at Hyannis Port, Mass., this weekend.

The "waterfront" includes such items as defence, trade and investment. But some of the president's other remarks about Canadian affairs indicate that Pearson may have to do more lecturing than listening—to clear up some of Kennedy's misconceptions of how the Quebec government got its money to expropriate private power companies in that province.

As he waded onto questions at this press conference Wednesday, Kennedy said the U.S. government should provide India with financial aid to build a new steel mill, suggesting that those who are opposed to such a plan should have a look at the situation in Quebec.

The president said there is an important distinction between providing help to a government to build a new steel mill and merely assisting that government to taking possession of one already built.

In words that bore little relation to fact, Kennedy said: "... we lend hundreds of millions of dollars to Canada to join in the nationalization of the electric lights in Quebec. . . ."

Actually, the Quebec government raised the money in the U.S. money market, paying commercial rates.

SEEKS FEDERAL LOAN

India has been pressing the U.S. government for a direct, low-interest, long-term loan from the treasury to build the steel mill. Kennedy said the U.S. should help build it because India needs the steel.

As for the Hyannis Port meeting with Pearson Friday and Saturday, Kennedy said the central objective is to go over all the areas which involve the common interests of the two countries: Defence, trade, distribution of natural resources, the flow of investments and other matters.

Other officials have stated the most vital issues to be discussed likely will be Canadian acceptance of U.S. nuclear warheads and some means of removing Canadian barriers to ratification of the Canada-U.S. Columbia River power treaty.

THE LIGHTER SIDE

By DICK WEST

Is Nothing Sacred?

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The National Geographic Society is in every respect an honorable institution. It has been almost like a second father to me.

I love the Geographic and all that it stands for, but there are times when I think it is too starkly realistic for its own good. Or at least for my good.

Some of the information the Geographic distributes leaves me feeling sort of lost and lonely. It undermines my security by destroying my illusions.

Recently, illusions have been falling about me like so many daisy petals.

For instance, after a glorious trip to South America I returned to the old grind saying, as everyone does under such circumstances, "well, back to the salt mines."

Then I picked up a Geographic press release and received a rude shock. According to the Geographic, salt mines actually are rather pleasant places to go back to.

They have mild temperatures the year around, the humidity is low and the salt crystals are pretty and shiny. Furthermore, the air is said to be good for colds, asthma and hangers.

I still was recovering from this blow when I received another release that sent me reeling again. Sea turtles, it said, do not really weep when they come ashore to lay eggs.

Man and boy, I had accepted as pure gospel the canard that sea turtles were big cry babies. I trusted it as implicitly as I trusted the Easter bunny, the Loch Ness monster and the abominable snowman.

Now I must spend the rest of my days haunted by the knowledge that a sea turtle's tears are nothing but an unemotional salt-secreting function.

You really can't blame me then if I leap at a chance to turn the tables on the Geographic. I am about to destroy one of its illusions as completely as it shattered mine.

The Geographic, with a false sense of security, has been operating under the impression that the biggest coin ever made was minted in Sweden in 1644. It was 24 inches long, weighed 44 pounds and would buy one horse or 70 kilograms of butter.

I'll concede that it was a pretty big coin all right, but I take perverse pleasure in reporting that the people on the island of Yap, in the western Carolines, would have used it for pocket money.

The Smithsonian Institution has in its collection a Yap coin that is seven feet in diameter, and even it was small change to the Yaps. Some Yap coins ran as large as 14 feet.

This sort of events me up with the Geographic as regards shattered illusions. I sincerely hope it won't be too upset and that we can go on being friends. After all, we all need something we can cling to.

HOME GARDEN

By HILDA BEASTALL

Good Bulbs Demand Proper Care

Lovely as the daffodils and tulips are, they pose a problem for the gardener when the middle of May approaches.

After the flowers are finished and the heads have been removed, the leaves must be allowed to remain because it is during this period that the daffodil builds up its bulb and puts the flower in for next year.

If the leaves are cut off while they are green or the bulbs are disturbed too soon, there will be no flowers.

Tulips are a little different, but they too must have their leaves left growing in order to build up the bulbs for next season.

There are two ways of dealing with these bulbs after flowering. One is to remove them to another place for bulb building and ripening. The other is to plant summer annuals in between them and tie the leaves of each group of daffs as they become limp, leaving them on until quite yellow when they can be readily detached.

Most people like to remove the bulbs from the flowering bed since it makes planting easier. This can be successful if each group of bulbs is treated as a living plant, dug complete with a ball of soil and transplanted intact.

The ideal place for putting the transplanted bulbs is in a well fertilized row in the vegetable garden, for they need a good soil and even some watering before the leaves begin to ripen naturally.

It is this after-flowering care which makes the difference in bulb flowers in later years. When one buys good bulbs it pays to look after them and it is the mark of a keen, successful gardener to keep his bulbs in good health.

80-Student Labor College Opens Doors
 OTTAWA (CP) — In less than a month, the first labor college in North America will open its doors to some 80 trade unionists from across Canada. It will be an epic occasion in the annals of organized labor. The college is a four-way partnership, sponsored by the University of Montreal, McGill University, the Canadian Labor Congress and the Confederation of National Trade Unions. It's part of the new look among enlightened labor leaders—an acknowledgment that higher learning has a growing role to play in modern unionism. The idea of the college has been simmering in the minds of some progressive labor leaders for years. It became a reality when the two Montreal universities and the 1,050,000-member CLC agreed on the structure, relationship and curriculum of a centre of higher education for union members. Later, Quebec's central labor body, the CNTU, was invited to participate. Thus, the labor college is both the first of its kind in North America and also the first bilingual centre for union students.

SEATO Naval Exercise
 MANILA, The Philippines (AP)—Forty-one ships and 14,000 men completed Wednesday a 10-day test of the naval strength of members of the Southeast Asia Treaty Organization. Exercise Sea Serpent, conducted in the South China Sea off the southeast Asian peninsula, coincided with the threat of renewed civil war in Laos, although the exercise was planned long before the outbreak of fighting there.

B.C. SEA FOOD FLIES TO EDMONTON BANQUET

Salmon, shrimp and clam chowder are being flown from B.C. today for a luncheon in Edmonton Friday to promote the flow of tourists from the prairies to the coast.

There are 26 British Columbians touring the prairies this week under the auspices of the provincial government as part of the tourist promotion.

One of them, Ald. Geoffrey Edgelow of Victoria, Tuesday presented Mayor Jack Newman of Red Deer with a cluster lamp replica and a bouquet of flowers picked in Beacon Hill Park and flown to Alberta.

JAMES
... guess who?

British Actor's 'Greatest Role' Helped Win Second World War

LONDON (UPI) — An actor whose greatest role may have helped win the Second World War died here Wednesday.

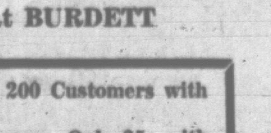

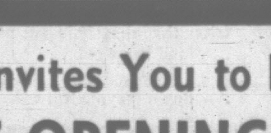

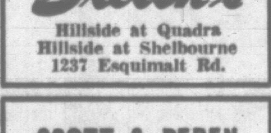

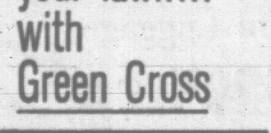

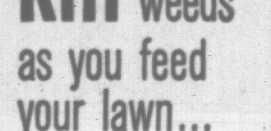

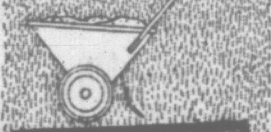

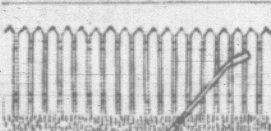

Meyrick Edward Clifton James stood in for Field Marshal Bernard (now Viscount) Montgomery and in a masterpiece of wartime impersonation is believed to have hooked the German invasion had been postponed.

Coincidentally, James' death, at 65, came on the 18th anniversary of V-E Day.

"He performed a very useful purpose at a very dark time of the war," Montgomery said on Wednesday. "What he did completely fooled the Germans."

"He did a very good job, and fooled the Germans at a very critical time of the war," the Field Marshal said.

At the time of his great im-

Japan Official Seeks To Oust H-Bombers

TOKYO (Reuters) — The governor of Fukuoka prefecture today asked for the removal of F-105 Thunder chief fighter bombers—which can carry hydrogen bombs—from a United States Air Force base in his area.

The Japanese national news agency Kyodo reported that Taichi Uzaki, a member of the Socialist party, said the presence of the planes would bring insecurity to the residents of the prefecture.

Uzaki's action coincided with a decision by the opposition Socialist party to protest both to the Japanese government and to the embassy here against the assignment of the F-105s to Itazuki base in southern Japan. The assignment was announced here Tuesday by the U.S. Fifth Air Force headquarters which termed it part of a modernization program of Pacific air force equipment in the Far East.

Britons Drink More

LONDON (AP) — Drunkenness in Britain last year was the highest in 42 years. A report by the Christian Economic and Social Research Foundation said the number of convictions for drunk offences last year was 92,100—the peak since the total of 96,415 in 1920.

General Staff. "None of his own officers realized he was not Montgomery as he flew to North Africa, ostensibly for a tour."

Back in Britain, Montgomery continued preparations for the D-Day landing in Normandy. But German intelligence agents are known to have informed their headquarters that Montgomery was in North Africa and no Normandy invasion could therefore be imminent.

On June 6, the Allies attacked and the Germans were caught off guard.

To impersonate "Monty," James studied the Field-Marshal's voice, speech, gestures, walk and salute.

After the war, he wrote a book, "I Was Monty's Double," and later went on the stage.

But none of his theatrical roles ever matched his real life wartime impersonation.

Mayor Welcomes Opportunity To Talk Turkey

Between June 17-19, Union of B.C. Municipalities executive will discuss "friction points" directly with cabinet ministers.

"This could be the starting point toward development of a whole new pattern of liaison," said Mayor Wilson, a UBCM executive member. He said it should help "both sides to bridge the unfortunate gap between municipal and provincial thinking that seems to have developed over the past few years."

Coroner Rules Car Fatality Accidental

Crash victim Thomas Henry English died accidentally, coroner Dr. J. H. Moore ruled Wednesday.

Mr. English, whose car collided with a rock bluff near the Malahat summit early Saturday, died in hospital Sunday.

He had suffered a fractured skull and broken ribs.

There were no witnesses to the accident. Mr. English was alone in the car at the time.

Funeral services were held Wednesday, followed by burial at Royal Oak.

Surviving are the widow, Enid, and one son, Barry, at the family home at 2180 Cranleigh; parents Mr. and Mrs. T. H. English, of Victoria; and three sisters, Mrs. Olive Morgan and Mrs. Doreen Little, of Victoria, and Mrs. Joyce Weston of Nanaimo.

Funeral Today For War Veteran A. H. Osgood

Funeral services were held today for Arthur Harold Osgood, 73, of 1344 Beach Drive.

Mr. Osgood, a First World War veteran, who was well known for his work with Goodwill Enterprises, died here Monday.

Born in London, England, Mr. Osgood lived in Victoria for the past 52 years and was a member of Christ Church Cathedral.

Surviving him are two daughters, Mrs. Fred Watkins of Victoria, and Miss Beatrice Osgood of Vancouver; two granddaughters; two sisters, Mrs. A. E. Ashe of Victoria, and Mrs. George Chapman of England, and several nieces and nephews.

School Symphony Concert A Garden of Pleasure

By AUDREY S.L.D. JOHNSON

Every once in a while something—a sunset, flowers in a garden, a musical performance—is so delightful in some special way that one would like to preserve it—and go back to it every now and then to re-live the experience.

The Greater Victoria Schools Symphony Orchestra concert, Wednesday night at Oak Bay Junior High was like that.

It was a memorable and exciting concert because it was infused with so much disciplined spirit, such genuine and alert understanding of the music; and it revealed superb individual talent.

The only regrettable circumstance of the evening was the announcement of the retirement of Mrs. Dorothy Evans, conductor.

Mrs. Evans' musicianship, her dynamic direction and specific ability on the podium, have been an ideal factor in consolidating the fine work of the string teachers of the school system and in private studios.

Soloist and ensemble players throughout reflected this. Concert mistress Veronica Milton's solo work in Lalo's "Symphonie Espagnole" reaffirmed that she is an exceptionally gifted musician.

It is possible to state unequivocally that this teen-aged girl, other factors being favorable, has a fine musical career ahead of her.

She also teamed with two highly accomplished young flautists, Terry Poisson and Anne Metrakos, to give an impressive performance of Bach's Brandenburg concerto No. 4.

John Beckwith's "Fall Scene" and "Fair Dance," two short pieces, proved interesting and were effectively played by the orchestra with solo clarinetist Diana Brown and violinists Vienne Abbott, Effie-Jane Bailey and Alan Ross.

Lorne Dunn proved a skilful oboe soloist in Barbirolli's concerto for oboe and strings.

Gifted pianist Gail Wall was soloist in "Exodus."

CALLING ALL HOMEOWNERS

In order to beat the persistent trend of sharply rising prices, the Layritz Nurseries have, for the last three years, been propagating on a mass production scale. During 1962 over 135,000 hybrid rhododendrons, camellias and hardy evergreen azaleas have been added to their already considerable stock of these beautiful shrubs. As a result, the Layritz Nurseries can now offer many of the best varieties of these plants at prices lower than ever.

Here are a few examples:

Hal Malone LOOKS AT SPORTS

Testimonial dinners are often a pain in the pancreas. The food is overrated and the speeches overdone. The adjectives "great" and "wonderful" suffer abuse and misuse.

The guest of honor frequently winds up in a cold sweat, wishing some of his prime enemies would set the joint on fire and end the misery.

Don't take this fledgling's word for it. Ask any of the senior flowers of journalism. They'll tell you how they would prefer the seven-year-itch or a rousing game of girls' grass hockey anytime.

Tuesday night at the Empress they invented a testimonial dinner which erased all previous convictions. The band played a little loud, the microphone burped and barked occasionally and people named Murphy suddenly found themselves introduced as Moore.

Speakers spun paeans of praise, reminisced heavily of yesteryears. A few had shapes more sandbaggy than avelite but their memories were long and their sincerity obvious.

Nobody had to "put on" for A. (for Archie not Archibald) McKinnon because there never has been anything "put on" about him. In 50 years as physical training instructor, swimming and diving coach, track tutor, father, mother and psychiatrist at Victoria Y he has been a "put out" fellow.

'A Very Few Invest In Themselves ...'

Now the Gyro Club was saying "thank you." They printed 400 tickets at five cents a copy. At noon they expected 300. Five minutes after the chicken fry began, the SRO sign went up. The head table sagged under McKinnon proteges, political brass, mayors, and as Dick Wilson said, "reeves of the higher taxation districts."

The purpose of the dinner was two-fold: to honor Archie and to make a pitch for funds for a swimming pool in his name for the new YMCA-YWCA building. The 25-metre pool will cost $100,000. "That's a lot of money," said Hugh Stephens, Y campaign manager, "but 50 years is a lot of years."

How do you measure a man's contribution to society? "In his case," said Stephens, "it's like measuring Everest with a yardstick. You run out of breath about the same time as you run out of yardstick."

As fund chairman, Stephens confessed that in the last five months he has had to defend the Y against "petty, small-minded people."

"My standard answer, devastating in its finality, is two words ... Archie McKinnon."

Ray Willison, the honorable lands minister who works off pounds of honorable lard in the Y gym, put it another way.

"Some men invest in gold mines. Some invest in oil. A very few invest of themselves in others. No man could buy this crowd which has responded to the investment made in them."

There were flowers and plaques and apparel and there was something else. Relatively few may have sensed the significance of Mayor Willison's words ... "On April 11, the city council unanimously passed a motion that in recognition of his character and citizenship ... Archie McKinnon will be given the freedom of the city."

Who Knows a Good Comedy Routine?

Since 1927 only four men have been named Freeman of Victoria. Lord Willingdon was the first, Robert Pim Butchart, the second. Bert Thomas, the water-lover followed and in 1959 Frank Mackenzie Ross joined the elite. The new boy belongs. And then some.

Archie winced and grimaced as the eulogies stretched endlessly even though those who delivered them never once reached beyond the edge of truth. Some of the pressure went off when Bruce Humber, Bob Hutchison, Bill Dale, Bob Wheaton, members of his graduating class, adroitly pierced his Glasgow hide with the needle.

His jolly jowls jumped when chairman Don Ross read a telegram from his younger brother Gus in Oakland.

"I guess," wired Gus, "the crazy guy is thinking up a comedy act to open the new pool."

You could actually feel, listening to Humber, Hutchison, Dale and the others, the profound effect he had on their lives.

"Champions were a by-product with him," said Humber. "He was too busy building minds and bodies."

"The meets I ran in don't stick out in my mind," added Dale. "The thing I will always remember is that he never once disappointed me in anything he said or did."

Hutchison: "He's never been a win-at-all-costs coach."

How do you reply to all this?

"I'm only a wee guy," said Archie McKinnon, 67, and trying to stave off honest tears. "Others have done and are doing far greater jobs. I got the ballyhoo."

He paid tribute, as others had before him, to Dorothy, his ever-lovin' ... "She's been the grandest partner. She never interfered, never complained. She stayed home and always said 'Hi!' when I walked in."

The Boy Who Needed Help Most

It would have been natural to recall visits to Los Angeles, Berlin, London and Helsinki and the successes of his athletics in bygone Olympic Games. But champions and personal prestige he did not covet—the boy who needed help most was his crusade.

He told of a youth "without an ounce of confidence" he recently met at the Y pool.

"Three lessons and he wouldn't let go of me," Archie said. "On the fourth try he was as far away from the water as on the first."

"I sat him on a bench and said: 'Look, son. Archie McKinnon has done all he can. Now it's your turn to carry the mental burden.'"

"We started into the water and I let go slowly, soft-talking him every step. Without knowing it he was on his own. I felt so good about it, I yelled, 'You've got it!'"

"He yelled back, 'I've got it, Archie!'"

"What have you got?" I asked him.

"I've got ... courage," he hollered.

For the boy, for all of us ...

WITH CLUB FOR 36 YEARS

Bill Tobin Helped Build Black Hawks

CHICAGO (AP)—William J. McLaughlin who bought the Tobin, vice-president of Chicago Black Hawks of the National Hockey League, died Wednesday.

Tobin, associated with the team for nearly 36 years as owner or an official, died in Mercy Hospital of emphysema, a lung destroying disease which caused the death Monday of bandleader Ted Weems in Tulsa, Okla.

Tobin, who would have been 68 May 20, became associated with the club in 1926 when professional hockey was introduced to Chicago.

He was named general manager by the late Maj. Frederic

McLaughlin who bought the Hawks for seven years until 1946 when he and a syndicate of Chicago businessmen purchased the controlling interest after the death of McLaughlin.

Tobin headed the club until 1950 when he and his associates sold their interests to the present owners, James D. Norris and Arthur Wirtz. Tobin continued as vice-president.

In 1941, while associated with the Hawks, Tobin took over independently Kansas City Americans of the U.S. Hockey League. He operated the Americans until 1951, when the club became part of the Black Hawks organization.

This May Be Big Year for Gord Gimple

Vancouver 14, Shamrocks 7

By DOUG PEDEN

Could this be the year Gordie Gimple finally wins the Inter-City Lacrosse League scoring crown? Gimple, the 28-year-old slicker who works on Vancouver's front line, has collected several league honors but has never had the "big" year often predicted for him.

Now in his seventh senior season, Gordie is a four-time winner of the prized Maitland Trophy—awarded annually to the player best combining ability, sportsmanship and assistance to minor lacrosse—but he is still in search of his first point title.

His biggest effort was in 1961 when he racked up 91 points to finish third in the scoring derby while linemate Fred Usselman was leading the parade with an even 100.

Last year Gimple didn't get into action to mid-season and thus was never a threat. But this time it is a different story.

He's away to his best-ever start and after three games in the current campaign, Gordie had collected 10 points on five goals and five assists to share the league lead with Victoria's Whitey Severson.

Wednesday night at Memorial Arena, Gimple stepped well out in front, running his tally to 15 as he fired four goals and collected an assist while Vancouver was routing the Shamrocks 14-7.

"I've just been lucky," he said of his scoring feat before ducking into a shower. "The goalies haven't caught up with me yet."

"This wasn't the same Victoria team that we played in Vancouver," he added. "We were expecting trouble after they almost beat us Tuesday. Their defence was in mid-season form, but tonight it didn't look like the same defence."

Rocks' Power Play Went Phfft

Defensive errors were the main reason for Wednesday's humiliation of the Shamrocks, who played their best game of the young season Tuesday, although dropping an 11-9 decision.

Five of the goals Vancouver scored on the way to a 7-4 half-time lead were the result of checking miscues by Irish defenders. To make matters worse, two goals came while Vancouver players were sitting out penalties.

Shamrocks, who took 18 of the game's 40 minutes in penalties, managed one goal with their odd-man play.

Not all of the Irish troubles could be blamed on defence. Forwards were often too slow in back checking and seldom able to co-ordinate their efforts on attack. And goalie Fred Wooster, with rivals continually firing from point-blank range, had a coolish night.

Highlight of the game, from the Victoria standpoint, came at the half-time interval when Severson received an award from his mates in recognition of Whitey's 500th game in the Inter-City League.

Severson, who spent one of his senior seasons (1950) in the Ontario League and collected 88 points for Brampton, stretched his record ICCL career total to 1,106 points (494 goals and 612 assists) with a goal and an assist.

Jim McNeill, Bill Bradley, Reg Foster, Ron Jay, Ashbee and Billy Gray also counted for the Rocks, who have now lost three straight after starting the season with a win over Nanaimo.

Vancouver, running its unbeaten streak to four, was paced by Gimple's four-goal effort. Usselman and Sid Warwick each chipped in with two tallies.

Shamrocks are expected to have Barry Ashbee in action when they play their next home game on May 22. Injured Sohen Gill should also be back in the lineup, but Ed Kovalyik, nursing a broken finger, will probably be sidelined until June.

Trejos went into Wednesday's eight-race card with five consecutive victories. His winning streak was broken in the sixth race when he rode Hidden Cargo to a third place.

Trejos, now only out of the money twice in 12 mounts, got his sixth straight win in the first race when he brought favored Sigh Lotti home in front by six lengths. He scored again in the fifth race when Emily Post won by five lengths.

He won over Bill Barnes and Dusty Mair, who tied for second place.

On the distaff side, Betty Thain won the title over Lil Jones by a single point.

Mair has been elected president for next season. Fred Usher was named vice-president and Bob Copeman secretary.

Glover to End Playing Career

CLEVELAND (AP)—Fred Glover turned down a contract Wednesday to continue as playing coach of Cleveland Barons of the American Hockey League. He indicated he intends to retire as a player.

Glover, 33, with the Barons for 10 years, was playing coach last season.

Man fresheners

Yardley Men's anti-perspirant Roll-On Deodorant or the handy Push-up Stick are the most effective you can buy. Yardley Soap for Men and Shower Talc are good companions.

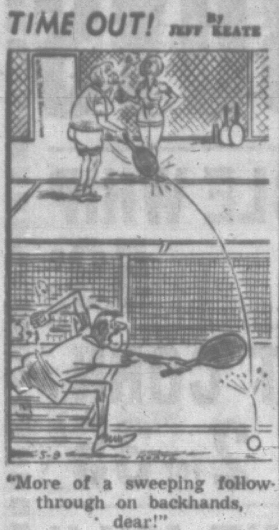

'AND THEN THERE WAS THE TIME ...'

One side of Archie McKinnon is his ability to laugh at stories on himself. Bill Dale, standing, one of Archie's top track stars two decades ago, told a McKinnon story Tuesday and the "coach," now retired as YMCA physical instructor, broke up.

More than 400 attended Gyro testimonial dinner honoring McKinnon at Empress Hotel. Dale, a pulp and paper executive at Woodfibre, one year ran the second fastest half mile in world. (See Hal Malone's column.)

Pay Television Spreads Arms

By JACK HAND

NEW YORK (AP)—The widespread use of pay television may be closer than is generally believed. The big fights long ago disappeared from the home screen. Since Floyd Patterson won the heavyweight title in 1956, only two heavyweight championship bouts have been seen on free home television.

Theatre TV has taken over the field. Last September the theatre TV receipts for the Patterson-Tony Liston debacle were estimated at $4,000,000.

The next logical step is the home set with the coin attachment or a billing at the end of the month on data compiled by an electronic computer.

When the National Football League signed a new contract for $226,000 for the rights for one football game—the 1963 championship—the documents included a little clause that could be a hint of things to come. That clause provided that commissioner Pete Rozelle and the NFL retain the right to set up theatre TV coverage of the game in the city where it is played.

ROAD GAMES FREE

When and if pay-TV comes along, the NFL would be in a position to cash in with its home games while still giving the fans the road games for free on regular television. The current policy calls for home telecasts of all road games with home games blacked out under terms of a $3,300,000 two-year contract with CBS that expires after the 1963 season.

Baseball would be in the position of being forced to take something away from the fan as many clubs, New York Yankees and New York Mets, for example, already telecast all home games and a majority of road games.

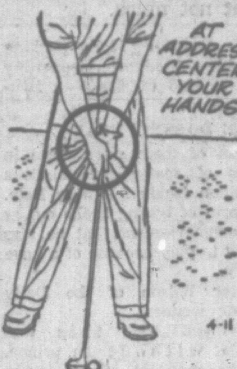

NEVER FORD?

Baseball commissioner Ford Frick has said repeatedly that he never would permit the World Series to be shown on pay television. However, never is a long time and Frick probably will retire within the next 18 months.

Pay TV experiments in the home have been tried in test areas—Hartford, Conn., and Toronto's suburban Etobicoke among others. The main diet has been first run movies, plus an occasional big fight or a Broadway show. However, the regular networks are showing such recent films on free home TV that the movie staple needs a solid boost from the sports field to make the venture entirely successful.

GOLF SCHOOL

By SAM SNEAD

Figuring out the correct address position can be a problem unless there is some sort of standard to follow. One good standard is to make sure that your hands are centred in front of your body on all full shots. This does much to assure a smooth takeaway.

If the hands are too far forward, you will tend to break the wrists early in the backswing, thus picking up the clubhead. If they are too far to the rear, you may "drag" the clubhead, with the hands getting incorrectly ahead of the clubhead on the backswing.

TREATED 'SHABBILY' BY CHICAGO

Disgusted Stamps Quit

LOST $90,000

CALGARY (CP)—The hard-luck Calgary Stampers, disgusted with the support offered them by the affiliated Chicago Black Hawks, want to pull out of the Western Hockey League.

A special hockey committee of the Calgary Exhibition and Stampede Ltd., sponsors of the club, voted unanimously Wednesday to request voluntary suspension of Calgary's operations in the WHL for the 1963-64 season.

A telegram was sent to Chicago general manager Tommy Ivan advising him of the decision, which will have to be approved by the stampede's board of directors before it is taken to a WHL meeting at Seattle May 15 and 16.

"We have been treated so shabbily by Chicago that we have no alternative but to ask for a year's suspension," said H. Gordon Love, chairman of the Stampede board. "Ivan simply isn't interested in the future of hockey in Calgary and that's all there is to that."

The announcement came after a disappointing season for the Stampers, who lost 45, won 23 and tied two games. Two losses at the end of the season kept them out of the WHL Northern Division playoffs.

has fallen sharply in recent years and Love said the club lost $90,000 on last season's operation alone.

The Stampers have been in the WHL for 11 years—since the 1951-52 season—and have made the playoffs each season, except their first, 1959-60 and this year.

"We just cannot carry on taking such a licking," said Love. "We've got to reshuffle and hope we come up with something more concrete than we have been getting from the Black Hawks."

He said Chicago has developed the "bad habit" of informing the Stampers at the last minute what can be expected in the way of players.

If Calgary folds, Stampeder-owned players would be sold or loaned while the remainder would be recalled by the Black Hawks. It was indicated that most of the Chicago-owned players would end up in either Buffalo or St. Louis, the Black Hawks' other farm clubs.

"This is a hockey town," said Love. "We want to give Calgary fans the best but we have been unable to during our connections with the Hawks."

Love forecast that Edmonton Flyers would leave the league with Calgary. He said the Flyers, despite the sound backing they get from Detroit Red Wings, will not be able to continue operations on the professional level.

Gorge Golfers Set For Handicap Race

Gorge Vale Golf Club's male swingers start after the club handicap championship this weekend.

They'll play 18 holes Sunday and wrap up the 18-hole medal test on May 19.

Juniors will also be chasing honors at the Gorge course, competing for the club junior title Saturday over a 36-hole route.

Some past entries will be accepted for each event.

Mat Feature Mixed Bout

Promoter Rod Fenton doesn't care how he mixes his matmen.

Midnet wrestlers will team up with heavyweight partners in a "man-and-midget" tag team bout that features Saturday night's professional card at Memorial Arena.

Pee-wee Lopez will side with Kinji Shibuya against 98-pound Marcel Semard and Dandy Dan Miller.

Gene Kiniski and Fritz von Goring will double up against Ronnie Echison and Jack Lanza in a second tag team match.

Bouts between Mitsu Arakawa and The Great Mephisto and midgets Tiny Bell and Chico Santana round out the card which starts at 8:15.

Benfica Club In Cup Final

LISBON (AP)—Benfica of Portugal won its way into the finals of the European Soccer Cup of Champions race Wednesday night by defeating Amsterdam's Feijenoord team 3-1 before a crowd of nearly 80,000 spectators.

Benfica will play Milan of Italy in the final at Wembley.

Brazil XI Without Pele Like Princeless Hamlet

LONDON (AP)—England's 1-1 draw with Brazil Wednesday gave the soccer experts some hope for the 1966 World Cup campaign—but not much.

The big consolation for English commentators was the top-line performance of wing halves Bobby Moore and Gordon Milne. The big question mark hung over the English forward line and whether this experimental Brazilian team is anything near the world champions' full strength.

Most critics lined up with the opinion of Brazilian team manager Vicente Feola. His verdict: "Both teams will have to improve a great deal to have any chance of winning the World Cup."

The crowd of 92,000 packing Wembley Stadium Wednesday paid £75,000 ($225,000)—a British record.

PELE DOESN'T PLAY
Most of them were there in hopes of seeing the fabulous Brazilian inside left Jose Pele. A storm of booing broke out at the announcement that he was not fit to play because of a knee injury.

Peter Wilson of the Daily Mirror writes:

"Without Pele this was Hamlet without the prince, the heavyweight championship without Sonny Liston. The whole affair was lacklustre to the point of sleepy sickness, in some ways farcical in the region of disbelief."

Desmond Hackett of The Daily Express says:

"Brazil looked just what they were—world champions, poised, skilled, unhurried . . . England have at last found a fighting spirit . . ."

New Home Recipe Reducing Plan

It's simple how quickly one may lose pounds of unsightly fat right in your own home. Make this home recipe yourself. It's easy, no trouble at all and costs little. Just go to your drug store and ask for four ounces of Naran Concentrate. Pour this into a pint bottle and add enough grapefruit juice to fill the bottle. Take two tablespoons full a day as needed and follow the Naran Plan.

If your first purchase does not show you a simple easy way to lose bulky fat and help regain slender more graceful curves; if reducible pounds and inches of excess fat don't disappear from neck, chin, arms, abdomen, hips, calves and ankles just return the empty bottle for your money back. Follow this easy way endorsed by many who have tried this plan and help bring back alluring curves and graceful slenderness. Note how quickly bloated disappears—how much better you feel. More alive, youthful appearing and active.

Stable Copper Price Big Aid to B.C. Mining

By GORDON BELL
Times Business Editor

An unprecedented two-year period in which free world copper prices have been held up to a 31-cent (U.S.) per pound price is drawing to a close with no sign of any weakening ahead.

The period has been of tremendous significance to the B.C. mining industry where nearly all development of importance has occurred in copper mining, much of which would have been marginal or sub-marginal a few years ago.

The authoritative U.S. industry magazine "American Metal Market" believes that price stability is here for some time to come in copper which should mean further development of B.C. properties.

The magazine, reporting on discussions in London and Brussels with major African producers and dealers on the London Metal Exchange, says:

"For more than two years, the two large African copper producers—Rhodesian Selection Trust and Anglo-American—and to a lesser extent Canada's Noranda—have succeeded in 'mopping up' sufficient surplus tonnages of copper offered for sale on the L.M.E. from time to time so that the price has been pegged at $234 a ton. This London price stability, in turn, has been a virtual guarantee of the stability of the U.S. domestic price at 31 cents a pound since May 19, 1961. Any decline in the price abroad would have drawn U.S. metal brokers and consumers to foreign supplies, in turn forcing U.S. producers to meet the competition by a Gordon Bell cut in price."

Placer Development Ltd. has withdrawn its offer to acquire all the assets of Bulolo Gold Dredging Ltd. other than Bulolo's holdings of Placer shares.

The offer was withdrawn, with Bulolo's consent, as conditions in New Guinea are not now the same as when it was originally made.

Placer holds a 25 per cent interest in Bulolo and the companies have a joint agreement on exploration and development of future prospects in the Southwest Pacific area including Australia.

"The generally firm economy of B.C. during the first three months of 1963 has been favorably reflected in company operations," B.C. Telephone Co. president C. H. McLean said in the quarterly report.

B.C. Telephone reported a gain in both revenues and earnings for the first three months of 1963. Net income available for payment of ordinary dividends was $1,585,118, equal to 69 cents a share. In the corresponding period last year net was $1,326,055. Operating revenue amounted to $18,136,185, an increase of 7.5 per cent over the first quarter of 1962, while operating expenses were up by 7.1 per cent at $14,177,392. The company had 600,862 telephones in service March 31, an increase of 6,579 since the first of the year.

Mr. McLean noted that improvement in business conditions in B.C. had resulted in higher employment levels and capital spending intentions had increased 15.4 per cent over 1962 for a total of $1,467,000,000.

desians have had nearly a year in which to rebuild their stockpiling fund to take care of any spot surplus situations.

With a virtual guarantee, then, of stable prices demand for B.C. copper should remain good and the provincial economy should benefit from a number of new developments which are nearing the production stage.

Giant Mascot Mines Ltd. had an operating profit of $396,484 before depreciation and taxes in the six months ended March 31, according to president W. Clarke Gibson.

This compares with operating profit of $88,232 for the same period last year when the mine was shut down for six weeks for alterations in crushing plant and underground operations.

Placer Development Ltd. has withdrawn its offer to acquire all the assets of Bulolo Gold Dredging Ltd. other than Bulolo's holdings of Placer shares.

PRODUCTION IN LINE

The stabilization operation has been made possible by an unwritten but general "common operating philosophy" of free world producers.

This includes keeping production in line with demand, avoiding price cutting for short-term gains, winning over more copper users through stable prices, and keeping higher-cost mines in operation to meet possible upsurges in demand.

The operation of buying up copper on the L.M.E. is not without risk, of course, and should any large producer break the unwritten agreement, or should the Soviet decide to break the market by dumping great amounts of copper on London, the whole scheme could collapse.

At one point last summer, for instance, the Rhodesians were being called on to absorb very substantial offerings on the L.M.E. and were believed to have been pushed to the limit of their resources.

However, chances of the copper market being upset by either free world or Soviet dumping seem very remote for the next few years at least and the Rhodesians have been pushed to the limit of their resources.

These Problems
For Quick Thinkers

By JACK HUTTON

Easter exams are out of the way. But the final ones are still to come. Getting jumpy? Just to prove you're an alert, quick-thinking type who can handle any question that comes along, give me the answer to the following question without using a pencil or paper.

An electric train is proceeding north at exactly 80 miles-per-hour while an east wind is blowing at 20 miles-per-hour. Which way will the smoke blow?

Southwest, you say? Are you sure? When was the last time you saw smoke coming from an electric train? If so, you'd better report it immediately—because electric trains don't produce smoke.

Long Tunnel
Try this next train question if you want to redeem yourself. A train that is one mile long. If the train is proceeding at 15 miles-per-hour, how long does it take to go through the tunnel?

That sounds easy. The train is obviously going one mile every four minutes. But first picture the train in your mind: When the front end of the train is entering the tunnel, the caboose is still one mile behind.

What you must figure out is how long it takes the train to go two miles. Your answer, therefore, must be eight minutes.

These questions are just two that you can find scattered through the 123 pages of one of the most fascinating pocket books on the market today—Magic House of Numbers, by Irving Adler.

I've mentioned this book before, but several of you have written since to find out more. Just for the record, it is published by Signet (P2117) and my copy cost 60 cents.

Read this book—you'll find it written in breezy, easy-to-read style—and you will never look at numbers in the same way. The magic tricks which can impress your friends are worth the price of the book all by themselves.

Do you, for instance, know how to quickly multiply numbers that are only one number apart? Let's take 19 times 21 as an example. (This is only used where the number in between is easily multiplied.)

What's the number in between the two? Multiply 20 by itself, and then subtract one from it. Your answer is 399. Even if you use this trick three times a year, it's still an impressive one.

Strange Number
Sometime when you have a few spare moments, memorize the number 142,857. This is a strange number that plays a weird game of ring-around-a-rosy. Multiply it by 2, then 3, 4 and 5.

Notice anything? The digits revolve like a car speedometer, jumping to the rear of the number. Finally, multiply it by 7. Previous readers will find a very significant answer. The number 9 is like a magician that lurks behind the scenes, often controlling what is happening on the stage. If you want to find out more, look for a copy of Dr. Adler's book.

Bobby's Fans
Never realized that Bobby Curtola, Canada's successor to Paul Anka, had so many fans outside his home town of Port Arthur, Ont., until I did a column on him.

Suddenly I find he has about 400 fans clubs dotted across the map of Canada. Heather Babcock of Moncton, N.B., the president of her local club, writes:

"I was very pleased with this article. I know that Bobby Curtola is a fine guy who deserves any support he can get. If possible, I would appreciate your printing my address for anyone interested in joining the club."

Since I assume Heather is also interested in corresponding with other teen-agers across the country who are interested in Bobby's future, her address is: 24 Connaught Ave., Moncton, N.B.

Slang Latin
Another Moncton reader has questioned my use of Bonna Fortuna (translation: good luck) in a discussion of Latin. The phrase came from a Latin teacher, but he agrees it's a slang construction.

Julius Caesar would never have used it.

Langford 50 and Up Club celebrated its ninth birthday at a tea party Wednesday in the club hall. Next meeting will be on Wednesday, May 15.

NEW YORK—Cary Grant just demonstrated this week that—at 59—he's still the champ glamor boy... that age hasn't much to do with masculine attractiveness.

Grant went to a cocktail party to help his friend, Major Riddle of the Las Vegas Dunes, launch his book, "The Weekend Gambler's Handbook." The women there... teen-agers, middle-agers, and old-agers... stood around gawping for breath. When he left, the females said, sadly, "Let's go; what are we hanging around for?" My B.W., his No. 1 fan, said, "What if he is pushing 60—he has 'silvered so gracefully'." Later Arline Francis (now of "Tehin-Tehin") remarked, "They don't seem to make men like that any more—not with his kind of grace and looks and charm and style." (Oh, I don't know!)

Eighteen-year-old Brenda Lee's honeymoon with Ronnie Shacklett is a great success—playing her first NY cante, she captured the Copacabana with all the authority of a Sophie Tucker. What stage presence. Only 4-feet-11, she took complete command of the toughest room in the country, in a way that must have left her bridegroom, watching from a nearby table, pretty impressed with the kind of star she's going to be when she gets a few years on her.

THE MIDNIGHT EARL...
Alan King told Joe E. Lewis he's been invited to Glasgow for the Royal Command Performance in July: "I'll have my Fourth in Scotland," Joe E. said, "You can have your Fourth, and I'll have a fifth."

"Cleopatra" has been pared to four hours and five minutes (including an intermission—to count the money)... Ina Balin had her hair done in an East Side salon; under the next dryer, her poodle, getting a permanent.

That's earl, brother.

GRAND PRIZES

Is there something you want to know? Do you want to win a set of valuable books or other instructive prizes? Then ask Andy.

Andy will answer questions submitted by child readers and those who submit the questions he selects to answer will receive worthwhile prizes. The youngster who asks the first question answered each day receives a 30-volume set of the World Book Encyclopedia and of the second question a Hammond Atlas or Globe.

Andy sends a complete, 20-volume set of the World Book Encyclopedia to Barbara Floyd, age 12, of Westminster, Calif., for her question:

What causes the spectrum?
The rainbow colors of the spectrum catch the eye in all kinds of odd places. Sometimes they appear in a puddle on the road, where passing cars have left an oily film upon the water. They fan out in vivid ribbons when light strikes the surface of a glass prism, and they arch over the sky in the shimmering rainbow.

When scientists talk about the spectrum, they have a very large item in mind. They are referring to the many different wave lengths of electromagnetic energy. This is the kind of radiant energy which pours forth from the star which is our sun. The various wave lengths of electromagnetic energy also give us radio, radar and carry our TV programs.

This vibrant energy is a union of the invisible forces of electricity and magnetism.

Becomes a Rainbow Color
Light is but a narrow band in the electromagnetic spectrum. As it whips through space, the different wave lengths are blended together as white or colorless light. But when a beam of white light strikes an oily puddle, a falling raindrop or a glass prism, its different wave lengths are bent at different angles. We see the rainbow spectrum of white light.

When each wave length of light is bent and separated from the others, it shows itself as a color of the rainbow.

The shortest wave lengths are bent at the sharpest angles. They give us the blues of the spectrum. The longest wave lengths of white light are bent least. They give the rosy colors of red and orange bands of the spectrum.

The spectrum of white light is priceless to the astronomer. A burning gas, and each element can be identified by its own marks on the spectrum of white light. The spectrum of a distant star shows the elements present in its seething gases.

TODAY'S BEST LAUGH: A big H'wood TV star is all mixed up—his sponsor wants him back next year, but his wife dropped him.

WISH I'D SAID THAT: Do you remember, sighs Herb Sherry, when you could put a kid through college for what it now takes to put him through summer camp?

REMEMBERED QUOTES: "The Brazilians have a name for Communists in government. They call them 'water-melons'—green outside, Red inside." — Cong. Richard H. Poff, Virginia.

EARL'S PEARLS: Tact is the ability to make your blind date think she got the worst of it.

Embattled producer David Merrick was named in a poll as one of America's best-dressed men. A reporter asked how many suits he had, and Merrick answered: "What kind do you mean—settled or pending?"

TEEN-AGE CANADA

These Problems For Quick Thinkers

By JACK HUTTON

Easter exams are out of the way. But the final ones are still to come. Getting jumpy? Just to prove you're an alert, quick-thinking type who can handle any question that comes along, give me the answer to the following question without using a pencil or paper.

An electric train is proceeding north at exactly 80 miles-per-hour while an east wind is blowing at 20 miles-per-hour. Which way will the smoke blow?

Southwest, you say? Are you sure? When was the last time you saw smoke coming from an electric train? If so, you'd better report it immediately—because electric trains don't produce smoke.

Long Tunnel

Try this next train question if you want to redeem yourself. A train that is one mile long. If the train is proceeding at 15 miles-per-hour, how long does it take to go through the tunnel?

That sounds easy. The train is obviously going one mile every four minutes. But first picture the train in your mind. When the front end of the train is entering the tunnel, the caboose is still one mile behind.

What you must figure out is how long it takes the train to go two miles. Your answer, therefore, must be eight minutes.

These questions are just two that you can find scattered through the 123 pages of one of the most fascinating pocket books on the market today—Magic House of Numbers, by Irving Adler.

I've mentioned this book before, but several of you have written since to find out more. Just for the record, it is published by Signet (P2117) and my copy cost 60 cents.

Read this book—you'll find it written in breezy, easy-to-read style—and you will never look at numbers in the same way. The magic tricks which can impress your friends are worth the price of the book all by themselves.

Do you, for instance, know how to quickly multiply numbers that are only one number apart? Let's take 19 times 21 as an example. (This is only used where the number in between is easily multiplied.)

What's the number in between the two? Multiply 20 by itself, and then subtract one from it. Your answer is 399. Even if you use this trick three times a year, it's still an impressive one.

Strange Number

Sometime when you have a few spare moments, memorize the number 142,857. This is a strange number that plays a weird game of ring-around-a-rosy. Multiply it by 2, then 3, 4 and 5.

Notice anything? The digits revolve like a car speedometer, jumping to the rear of the number. Finally, multiply it by 7. Previous readers will find a very significant answer. The number 9 is like a magician that lurks behind the scenes, often controlling what is happening on the stage. If you want to find out more, look for a copy of Dr. Adler's book.

Bobby's Fans

Never realized that Bobby Curtoia, Canada's successor to Paul Anka, had so many fans outside his home town of Port Arthur, Ont., until I did a column on him.

Suddenly I find he has about 400 fans clubs dotted across the map of Canada. Heather Babcock of Moncton, N.B., the president of her local club, writes:

"I was very pleased with this article. I know that Bobby Curtoia is a fine guy who deserves any support he can get. If possible, I would appreciate your printing my address for anyone interested in joining the club."

Since I assume Heather is also interested in corresponding with other teen-agers across the country who are interested in Bobby's future, her address is: 24 Connaught Ave., Moncton, N.B.

Slang Latin

Another Moncton reader has questioned my use of Bonna Fortuna (translation: good luck) in a discussion of Latin. The phrase came from a Latin teacher, but he agrees it's a slang construction.

Julius Caesar would never have used it.

Langford 50 and Up Club celebrated its ninth birthday at a tea party Wednesday in the club hall. Next meeting will be on Wednesday, May 15.

IT HAPPENED LAST NIGHT

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK — Cary Grant just demonstrated this week that—at 59—he's still the champ glam-boy... that age hasn't much to do with masculine attractiveness.

Grant went to a cocktail party to help his friend, Major Riddle of the Las Vegas Dunes, launch his book, "The Weekend Gamblers' Handbook." The women there... teen-agers, middle-agers, and old-agers... stood around gawping for breath. When he left, the females said, sadly, "Let's go; what are we hanging around for?" My B.W., his No. 1 fan, said, "What if he is pushing 60—he has 'silvered so gracefully'." Later Arline Francis (now of "Tehin-Tehin") remarked, "They don't seem to make men like that any more—not with his kind of grace and looks and

THE MIDNIGHT EARL...

Alan King told Joe E. Lewis he's been invited to Glasgow for the Royal Command Performance in July: "I'll have my Fourth in Scotland," Joe E. said, "You can have your Fourth, and I'll have a fifth." "Cleopatra" has been pared to four hours and five minutes (including an intermission—to count the money)... Ina Balin had her hair done in an East Side salon; under the next dryer, her poodle, getting a permanent.

TODAY'S BEST LAUGH: A big H'wood TV star is all mixed up—his sponsor wants him back next year, but his wife dropped him.

WISH I'D SAID THAT: Do you remember, sighs Herb Sherry, when you could put a kid through college for what it now takes to put him through summer camp?

REMEMBERED QUOTES: "The Brazilians have a name for Communists in government. They call them 'watermelons'—green outside, Red inside." — Cong. Richard H. Poff, Virginia.

EARL'S PEARLS: Tact is the ability to make your blind date think she got the worst of it.

Embattled producer David Merrick was named in a poll as one of America's best-dressed men. A reporter asked how many suits he had, and Merrick answered: "What kind do you mean—settled or pending?"

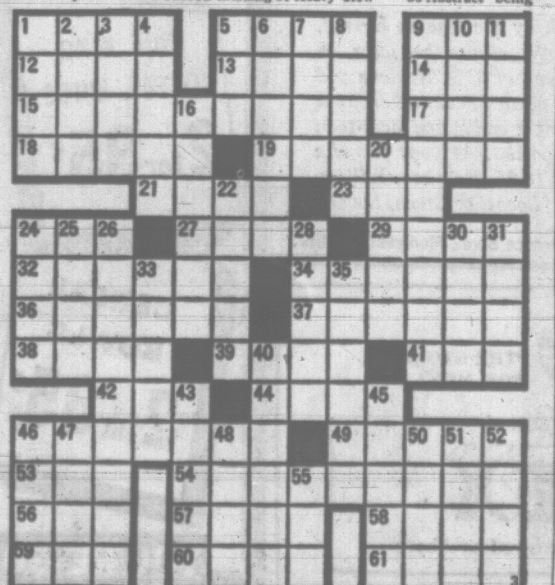

That's earl, brother.

New Tax Structure Proposed

By STEWART MacLEOD TORONTO (CP)—An entirely new tax structure, including a massive $450,000,000 reduction in military spending, was proposed for Canada today by the United Electrical, Radio and Machine Workers of America. In one of the most complete programs yet presented to the Carter royal commission on taxation, the independent, 19,000-member union provided a detailed formula of the plan to ease the weight of the tax burden from the working man's shoulders. Total revenue would be increased by at least $64,000,000, said the huge brief. Venturing into the provincial field, the union asked that all provincial retail taxes be reduced to a maximum of two per cent. At the federal level, excise taxes should be eliminated, and the standard income tax exemptions for single persons be increased to $2,500 from $1,000 and to $6,000 from $2,000 for a married man.

SHARE HEAVIER LOAD

The graduated rate of the income tax scale should be revised so those earning more than $13,000 a year would bear a heavier load. This would bring in an extra $85,000,000, to help offset the loss of $987,000,000 through the reductions.

Also contributing to increased revenue would be the elimination of "corporate living"—widespread use of expense accounts—which would bring in $125,000,000 to the treasury. The elimination of the 20 per cent dividend tax credit would bring in another $63,000,000; taxing the undistributed profits of companies would mean an extra $259,000,000; and taxing the profits hidden in depreciation would mean $519,000,000.

This, along with the $450,000,000 cut in military spending, the undistributed profits of companies would mean an extra $64,000,000, said the union, and by taxing capital gains the margin would be even greater.

The brief said the Canadian tax structure now is "highly discriminatory" in favor of executives and business-owners. The working people must bear the heaviest share of the consumer taxes, while the owners can find relief through tax-free capital gains, expense accounts, and the opportunity to take some of their earnings in stock.

The family must be accepted as a fundamental tax base, the commission was told.

The proposed new graduated rate of income tax would mean a five per-cent tax on the first $1,000 of taxable income, rising to 80 per cent on taxable incomes above $94,000. This would lower taxes under the $10,000 level, leave them basically unchanged between $10,000 and $13,000, and hoist them above $13,000.

110-MPH Chase Brings Fine, Suspension

A 12-mile chase a over 100 mph on Patricia Bay Highway April 12, brought a conviction for dangerous driving Wednesday against W. Reginald Friend, 1145 Rocky Point Rd. A police car, travelling at times over 100 mph, was left behind by the accused in his fast English sports car, evidence showed.

The patrol car followed him with siren sounding and red light flickering. Friend was arrested when he stopped at the Swartz Bay ferry terminal.

He told the arresting officer that his speed at times had been "about 110." Magistrate William Ostler suspended his licence and fined him $100.

'LIGHT USERS' WOULD PAY IN THE END'

B.C. Hydro wants to give free bus rides to pensioners but how to do it is a headache.

Mines Minister Kenneth Kiernan, a hydro director, said the matter is under study but there are two problems:

Who will qualify? How it can be done without increasing bus service. Mr. Kiernan said if old-age pensioners were given passes, perhaps disabled persons and others should be eligible, too.

He said Victoria and Vancouver bus services both lose heavily and electrical consumers pay the loss. Any increase in service for pensioners would mean a heavier loss.

The Kremlin's King of Canons, a 16th century weapon, has a bore of 36 inches and 17-foot barrel but has fired its two-ton shot.

Child Labor Charge Ridiculous

A union official's suggestion that the provincial government encourages so-called "child labor" is ridiculous, Education Minister L. R. Peterson said Wednesday.

He answered, "Nonsense," to a charge by Syd Thompson, president of the Vancouver local of the International Woodworkers of America.

Thompson said students have in some cases been employed without pay at interior lumber mills.

WORKERS DISPLACED

Other delegates at the Vancouver and District Labor Council said that under the education department's training program, workers have been displaced to make room for no-pay students.

Mr. Peterson said the occupational program is designed to provide more merchantable skills to students who would otherwise drop out of high school.

He said it is desirable that somebody being trained in school for a specific job should get a chance to spend a day working at it.

UP TO BOARD

Whether students actually engage in work is left to each school board, the education minister said.

About 150 independent manufacturers in Britain employ some 57,000 workers to produce about 520,000 tons of cookies annually.

"I am sure none of the school districts would allow any employer to take advantage of the students," he said.

Oak Bay Budget Delays Sewer

Oak Bay's 1963 budget scuttles hopes that Metropolitan Health Board extension proposals will be carried out for at least another year.

The only works estimate approved that will assist in the disposal of waste in offshore waters relates to minor improvements to the surface drainage system.

Metro Health senior medical officer Dr. J. L. M. Whitbread reported to council this week on a pollution survey of Greater Victoria and the Saanich Peninsula.

One finding was that some coastal out-falls require up to 500 feet to deeper water.

Another need is for more septic tank connection with sewers.

The survey was made because of increased interest in unnecessary pollution of coast surface waters.

It followed extension of jurisdiction for the provincial Pollution Control Board, to take offshore waters as well as streams and lakes.

Oak Bay plans are for surface drain extension as part of a long-range improvement program.

This was cut to the bone in budget-paring sessions leaving only one project on the works schedule for 1963—extension of Broom Road outfall near Glenlyon School.

Forgery Gang Heading West

VANCOUVER (CP)—Vancouver police said Wednesday they have been warned that a number of men who have obtained some $21,000 in goods through use of forged certified cheques in Montreal and Winnipeg are believed working their way west.

Officers said the men open what appear to be legitimate business offices, place large orders for jewelry, sporting goods and other valuables, pay for the goods with forged cheques, then disappear.

Arthur Mayse

Year by year and little by little, the harsh facts of life corrode away our illusions.

We plumb the inner meaning of no down payment and 36 easy installments.

We find that a garden is never leaf-perfect, that our frailties outlast our good resolutions, that Eden has its serpent and Oak Bay municipality its rats.

It hurt to learn about those rats in Oak Bay's composts. Out here in sloppy Saanich, where a car may disappear in a pothole and it takes a mighty good man to find his way between street lights, Oak Bay has long been one of my more cherished illusions.

Peering from our borders into that happy land, I've always assumed it to be a demi-paradise. When I drove through—they let us do that sometimes, if our visas are in order and we don't loiter—I envied Oak Bay's fatcat burghers their pavements and tended boulevards and the like.

It impressed me enormously to learn a while ago that Oak Bay was considering a ban on trailer boats in driveways. Also, although we Saanichites take care not to approach too close, I've admired Oak Bay's Old English police station and looked forward to the day when the cops would adopt beef-eater uniforms.

But rats in the composts... I don't know... Somehow that changes the picture...

Still, even though the idyll has been marred by this revelation, we mustn't abandon a sister municipality in her hour of need.

The obvious solution to Oak Bay's little problem... you know, tails and whiskers... is to send the loathsome intruders back to their Saanich homeland.

Here, we never worry about rats until our cats and smaller dogs turn up missing; in fact I don't know how we'd weather a hard winter without the creatures.

Perhaps what Oak Bay needs is a Pied Piper. Offhand I can suggest a dozen promising resident candidates, any of whom the compost-haunting visitants would welcome as a brother. He could lead his enchanted army through Saanich on a safe conduct from our reeve to Mount Douglas; and there where an old copper mine offers convenient entry, lose them.

Should Oak Bay Council give him a bad time over his fee—they're sticklers for tradition and would undoubtedly go by the book—he could pipe the municipality's once-pleasant Willows Beach and Esplanade free of their junior rodents as a make-weight.

But this is mere day-dreaming. Oak Bay still entertains furry friends in its lavish compost heaps, and the Pied Piper is only a legend after all.

One fact stands plain: Oak Bay must strike to the root of the infestation without delay. Plow the gardens under and there'll be no need of compost. With their backyard playgrounds removed, the horde might patter on to Esquimalt.

Naturally, if Oak Bay residents feel they can't cope, Saanich will gladly offer them sanctuary. We have land still unsubdivided, no high-rises yet, at least I don't think so, quite a few sewers and a fairly decent climate.

More important, here where the woods echo at night to the howl of the irised taxpayer and the roadstrips get a municipal stubble-cut every year or two, we call a rat a rat and tolerate no nonsense from him.

Come to think of it, that's a pretty generous offer, when you consider the high-nosed Oak Bay attitude toward her poor relation.

Back in the years before the rats took over, Oak Bay wanted no part of us; wouldn't, in fact, accept us as a gift.

Well, that's all done with now, purveyor Oak Bay humbled by a squeak and a scurry in its once-pristine compost bins.

Second class citizens though we of Saanich may be, we don't cherish grudges. The daffodil curtain's lifted. Come on over, we'll protect you!

Topics of the Day

Art Gallery officials are prepared for big crowds to see "Craftsmen in Action" Friday afternoon and evening and Saturday afternoon at the Moss Street premises. More than 40 local experts in pottery, weaving, fly-tying, leatherwork, carving, basketry and other crafts will be on hand to demonstrate their specialties. Some of the articles may be purchased.

Service of two Victoria doctors has won them a place on the American College of Physicians, along with four other B.C. medical men.

Dr. Llewellyn Roberts, 3974 Telegraph Bay, and Dr. James Sinclair, 555 Monterey, were elected by the college as fellows.

Doctors are added as fellows or as associates.

An inquest into the death of a laborer who fell over 70 feet to his death from an Oak Bay high-rise apartment Wednesday will be held, the coroner, Dr. J. H. Moore, indicated today.

Date of the inquest will be announced when the autopsy has been completed.

Lloyd Quinlan, 31, of 587 Wootton, Metochin, was working on the eighth floor of the partially completed 16-story Ruyard Kipling apartment block on Beach Drive when he fell.

A former leading seaman in the RCN, he is survived by the widow, Catherine; two daughters, Keely, four, and Tish, one, and a son, Mitchell, five.

Funeral arrangements will be announced by Chaplin's funeral home.

Mystery Fire Wipes Out Malahat Cabin

A three-room cabin on the Malahat has burned to the ground, it was learned here today.

The house of frame construction, on what is known as the Jones estate, was situated on the west side of the Island Highway, about 300 yards south of the Dutch Latch.

The fire occurred Tuesday night.

There was no one in the house at the time of the blaze which was noticed at about 8 p.m.

Cause of the fire is unknown, and it was not attended by any fire department.

Firing practice will be held Tuesday by Brave Company of the First Battalion Princess Patricia's Canadian Light Infantry at Albert Head and Mary Hill camps.

Grenades will be used at Albert Head, and 3.5-inch rocket launcher practice rounds will be fired at Mary Hill. Shoot is between hours of 8 a.m. and 4 p.m.

Victoria Short Wave Club will meet Friday at 8 p.m. in the clubhouse, 2500 Foul Bay Road. Following the meeting there will be a tour of the Multiplex Division of the Department of Lands and Forests showing how topographic maps are made.

The real estate industry in B.C. has launched a campaign to raise more than $100,000 for an education and research foundation.

Campaign chairman for the Victoria district, including the Gulf Islands, is L. E. Kirk of Northwestern Securities of Victoria Ltd.

Funds will be used to provide more teachers for university real estate subjects, more research work and additions to the UBC library real estate section.

Sales and Marketing Executives' Club of Victoria will hold its election of officers Monday at a dinner meeting in the Oak Bay Beach Hotel.

The election will be followed by a discussion of club bylaws.

"Freedom Through Theosophy," a tape-recorded lecture written by Mrs. Mollie Griffith and read by Mrs. Jo Andrews, will be played at a public meeting of Besant Lodge, Theosophical Society, 732 Cormorant Street, Sunday at 7:30 p.m.

VICTORIA, B.C., THURSDAY, MAY 9, 1963—PAGE 17

Services In City Greater

7.3 Per Cent Hike Noted by Mayor

Mayor R. B. Wilson today expressed satisfaction with a 7.3 per cent increase in this year's civic services even while the tax rate remains at 55 mills.

He said an analysis of this year's budget showed $711,796 more than last year will be spent even after discounting the purely inflationary increase of some $92,000 for wage hikes.

Leaving out wage increases altogether, the city's budget will jump from $9,776,328 spent last year to a record total of $10,488,125 this year—without adding a single mill to the general or school tax load.

(This includes the 1963 instalments for paying off the approximately $1,000,000 worth of new capital work involved in the centennial square.)

INCREASES GENERAL

Increases in spending for all departments were registered, ranging from a low of 1.8 per cent for parks to a high of 28.1 per cent for street lighting.

Total increase for all ordinary expenditures is $374,553 for an average hike of 6.9 per cent. The social welfare, education and debt charges rose an average 10.6 per cent or a total of $411,969.

Only item cut back from last year's level was expenditure for new special projects (excluding centennial square and the civic carpark) which was held to $422,427 compared with $497,221 last year.

Mayor Wilson said much of the credit for the present happy situation should go to preceding regimes when the pay-as-you-go policy was instituted and carried out.

He said the city had built a solid foundation over the years for steady progress without economic hardship.

ARMY MOVE REPORT CONFIRMED

The defence department today confirmed a forthcoming switch in army units here.

Defence Minister Paul Hellyer said the Princess Patricia's Canadian Light Infantry, now stationed at Work Point, will go to Germany.

First Battalion, Queen's Own Rifles will return here from the NATO brigade. The move was predicted by the Times Tuesday. Local sources set the switch for Nov. 1.

Mr. Hellyer also said that the second regiment of the Royal Canadian Horse Artillery, now stationed at Winnipeg, will exchange postings with the third regiment, now serving in West Germany.

Magistrates Meet For B.C. Parley

R. W. Sandy, a native son of Victoria, returned here today in his capacity of police magistrate at Fort St. John—fast growing gas and oil town at the northern terminus of the Pacific Great Eastern Railway.

Modest quiet-spoken Mr. Sandy is one of 125 magistrates from all corners of B.C. who are attending a two-day magistrates' conference at the Empress Hotel—the first to be held in Victoria since the conference was founded in 1950.

Born and educated here, Mr. Sandy joined the B.C. provincial police in 1933 and saw service in many parts of the province before his appointment at Fort St. John four years ago. "Our problems grow with the population," he said. "We now have about 10,000 people, including the housing settlements that are springing up around the town."

FLOATING POPULATION

"There is, of course, a floating population of people who don't stay long and they provide a fair proportion of the drunks who appear in my court six mornings a week."

"Otherwise, we have a fairly orderly town and there is surprisingly little in the way of juvenile delinquency when you consider the variety of people we have."

Another distant delegate is Magistrate T. H. Blackburn from the northern settlement of Fort St. James, which was founded by Simon Fraser in 1806, but did not get electric power until 1952.

B.C.'s newest magistrate, J. S. Don, is expected later today from Hudson Hope, a community of workers employed on the new $70,000,000 Peace River dam.

H. S. Noakes, formerly at Ganges, Salt Spring Island, is back here as magistrate of Dawson Creek.

The conference opened this morning with a welcome by Mayor R. B. Wilson, Attorney-General Robert Bonner and Dr. Gilbert Kennedy, deputy attorney-general.

Mr. Bonner revealed that, of 107 narcotic addicts treated at Oakalla Prison up to Feb. 1 last year, 96 had been discharged. Of these, three had since died; 60 had returned to prison at different levels; 30 had not returned to the courts at any level.

"There is no problem more difficult than this treatment of drug addiction," he said, "and it is one we must tackle

Prompt Arrests Follow Thefts

Three Men Charged By City, Saanich

Three young men were charged today by city and Saanich police following a wave of overnight thefts.

One accused is a 17-year-old juvenile arrested by Saanich police with David Gene Wood, 21, of 7895 East Saanich Road. Both were expected to appear in court later today.

Rodney Leason, 20, of 951 Bay, appeared in city police court charged with burglary and theft at Bert's Fine Foods, owned by Egbert Van Akker, at 2576 Quadra.

He was remanded on $1,000 bail for election of trial Tuesday.

Saanich police made their arrests after four B.C. Telephone Co. pay phones were stolen from street boxes at Town and Country Plaza, in Saanich; Douglas at Humboldt; Government at Humboldt; and Blanshard at Yates, all in Victoria.

Two young men were stopped in a car on Douglas at 4:15 a.m., police said.

Money recovered totalled $65.27, and further investigation led police to three telephones which had been dumped over the bluff on Dallas Road waterfront near Cook.

VALUED AT $250 A fourth telephone was recovered elsewhere.

Each of the phones is valued at $250, police were told by the utility company.

Storekeeper Van Akker said it was his shop's second burglary within a month. The previous loss was a quantity of cash and several cartons of cigarettes.

Last night, after a rear door was kicked open, the only thing missing was a sack of pennies, he said.

Pay Award May Stall Oil Strike

A conciliation officer's award of 15 cents an hour wage increase over two years may forestall threat of a petroleum industry strike in B.C.

The award, made public today by Local 16-601 of the Oil, Chemical and Atomic Workers' International Union, must be accepted by its Canadian headquarters, provincial executive board and the 600-plus members of the local, as well as three major oil companies.

If it is rejected by the union, members will apply for a strike vote to be taken, secretary Gerry Lebourdais said in Vancouver.

A strike would affect all marketing and refining operations of the major oil companies in B.C., with repercussions in public and private transportation.

ASKED 18 CENTS

Oil workers in Shell, Imperial and Standard operations sought 18 cents an hour wage increase, based on a 16-cent hike granted by the companies to their U.S. workers just across the border in Washington State, and other parts of the union.

The companies offered seven cents an hour on a one-year contract, which the union rejected.

The award, made by conciliator Peter Fisher, was for seven cents retroactive to Feb. 1, 1963, eight cents Feb. 1, 1961 and for three weeks' holiday after eight years' service instead of 10 years.

VICTORIA TO SEE THE BEST

The Victoria Day holiday weekend promises to be an exciting one at Victoria Riding Academy. Two of the top horse shows of the year, with many jumping events will be seen at the Cedar Hill Cross Road club grounds.

Leading mainland competitors will be seen with the best of the Island in both shows, a junior program on May 18 and a senior open series of contests on May 20.

Two top U.S. women judges will score the shows; Elaine Osborne of Portland on the Saturday and Donalda Mahan of Kirkland, Wash., on the Monday.

Both shows will start at 9:30 a.m. and will resume at 1:30 p.m. after luncheon breaks.

Car Crashes Giant Rock 'Dead Centre'

A Cedar taxi-driver whose cab crashed spectacularly into "Castle Rock" near the Malahat summit early Wednesday afternoon survived with head and chest injuries.

James A. Johnson, about 45, was in satisfactory condition today at King's Daughters' Hospital, Duncan, where he was taken by Kiwanis ambulance.

Shawnigan Lake RCMP said his cab, travelling south on the Trans-Canada Highway, smashed directly into the huge rock projecting between the highway and a scenic view cut-off.

Victoria naturalist Freeman King, who was driving a short distance behind the cab, said the other car had just crashed when he rounded an uphill curve and came upon the scene.

"He hit the rock dead centre. The wheels ran eight feet up the face, and there wasn't a skid mark—no brake at all," Mr. King said.

The former district Boy Scout commissioner gave Johnson first aid while another motorist went for police.

He said Johnson had head and arm cuts and four cracked ribs.

"The steering wheel was buckled like a piece of tin. The motor was shifted and tires burst," Mr. King said.

SHOPPING GUIDE

For Mother This Sunday Fragrances That Flatter

By PENNY SAVER

Store that Penny was in today "scent" me away with my nose bewitchingly bewildered by delicate fragrances—and with some new information scribbled in my notebook.

I was on the track of gifts for mother this coming Sunday, of course, and I discovered that some of the most delightful scents the French perfume industry can produce are on special. Purpose is to have perfumes here for the tourists, but the beginning of the tourist season conveniently coincides with the date chosen to honor mothers.

I also learned that the menfolk need have no qualms about walking into this store and trying to choose a perfume. All they have to do is tell the clerks what the "better half" looks like, what kind of clothes she usually wears and immediately the clerk knows what kind of perfume will suit her best. System works 99 out of 100 times I was told, or as the clerk added, "so far at least no one has complained!"

Among specials available right now is a cologne of Antelope scent (said with a French accent I'm sure it doesn't sound like the animal it is in English!). With the standard size bottle comes a small bottle of bath oil. But don't be scornful of the size, the oil is extremely concentrated and one drop is enough for a bath. Price is $3.50.

Another well-known brand is selling for $3.75 for the usual two-ounce bottle of cologne plus bottle of perfume.

One perfume has been packaged a two-ounce spray mist toilet water, regular $4.50, with a bottle of perfume, regular $3.75, for a combined special price of $5.50.

For pure luxury, Mom will enjoy a toilet-water mist that comes in a gorgeous gold case that encloses the bottle. When bottle is empty, it is just thrown away and a new one put in its place. Mom will be reminded of the gift for years just because of the case. Scents have exotic French names like Belloggia, Nuit de Noel and Fleurs de Rocaille. Prices range from $7.50 to $8.50.

Make Muslin Pattern To Change Neckline

Dear Eunice:

"How can we make a square neckline from a pattern with a rounded one?" Mrs. W. G. Dear Mrs. W. G.:

This isn't too much of a pattern change. Whenever you make a change of this type, it is best to make a muslin sample.

Before cutting your good fabric, cut off the seam allowance before trying the muslin on and you can see exactly where the finished neckline will be.

If your square neckline is rather low and happens to gape in front, there is a way to remedy this. Attach a narrow elastic at an angle (as close as possible to the inner corner) on the wrong side of garment, over the finished facing.

Hand whip about 1/2 inch on each side of the elastic at the corner. Slip the dress over your shoulders and, before pulling down completely, bring both ends of the elastic under your arms to the middle of your back and mark the exact spot where the two ends cross. Don't pull the elastic too tight or it will pull the front of the dress out of shape.

Finish the ends of the elastic with a hook and eye. The elastic can be slipped over your straps before being fastened and will keep them from showing, as well as keeping the low square neckline firmly to your body. (See illustration.)

Collars and necklines are discussed in four of the 20 answers in Mrs. Farmer's 25-cent booklet of most frequently asked questions about sewing. You may obtain a copy of it by sending 25 cents and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope with your request for it to Eunice Farmer, in care of this newspaper.

WHY GROW OLD?

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

You Look Better Without Those Extra 10 Pounds

So many women remain just five to 10 pounds away from a truly lovely figure.

This viewpoint is understandable since five to 10 pounds is not enough overweight to be extremely distressing. However, even this much can make a woman feel uncomfortable in her clothes and deny her the pleasure of a sleek slim feeling. Also she should lose any overweight for best health and top energy.

As most of you know, I am bringing to you my 9-Day Reducing Diet this week. If you wish to use one of the low calorie salad dressings instead of lemon juice on your salads, go ahead. This will add little to your daily calorie count.

You might recall the value of herbs in seasoning when you are counting calories. Also, you can save calories and increase eating pleasure by serving broccoli with vinegar. The latter will be even tastier if served with wine tarragon vinegar.

Because many of you will want to do your shopping now, I will give you the menus for Friday and Saturday.

Here are the menus for Friday:

Breakfast: One egg, one thin dry slice of whole wheat toast, black coffee.

Luncheon: Fresh fruit salad, two tablespoons cottage cheese, one glass skimmed milk, one thin dry slice of whole wheat toast.

Dinner: Baked fish, medium portion, one-half cup cabbage, lightly cooked, one-half cup spinach or greens, one glass skimmed milk, one orange.

Here are the menus for Saturday:

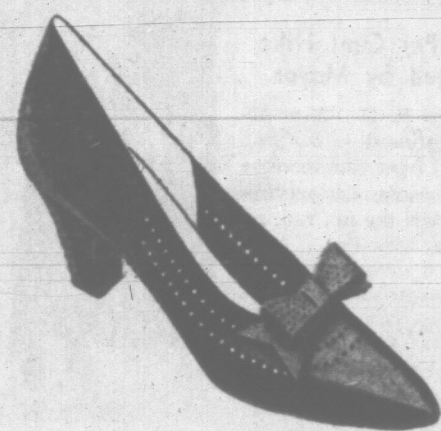

Breakfast: One-half grapefruit, two slices crisp bacon, one thin dry slice of whole wheat toast, black coffee.

Luncheon: One medium hamburger, sliced tomatoes, one glass skimmed milk.

Dinner: Good helping liver, stewed tomatoes, ten stalks of asparagus, one glass skimmed milk, one slice of pineapple or one-half grapefruit or apple.

If you would like to have my 9-Day Reducing Diet, which gives you a loss of from five to 10 pounds in nine days, send 10 cents and a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for it to Josephine Lowman in care of this newspaper.

Debutante Ball In Nanaimo

Excitement runs high in Nanaimo as daughters of eight prominent couples make final preparations for their presentation to Rear-Admiral W. M. Landymore, RCN, flag officer Pacific Coast at the Navy League Debutante Ball, to be held in the Nanaimo Golf and Country Club on Saturday evening. Making their social debut will be the Misses Susan Westwood, Lorraine Strachan, Diane Baldwin, Bobby Jean Burns, Janet Davis, Margaret Johnstone, Marcia Jones and Susan Stewart. Their escorts will be officers from HMCS Fraser, HMCS Antigonish and HMCS Grise.

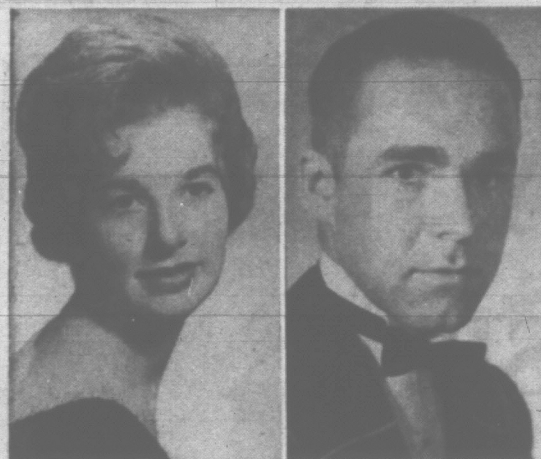

On Friday evening the debutantes, their parents and escorts will be honor guests when the Nanaimo branch of the Navy League of Canada entertain at their headquarters. Ninety guests have been invited. They include Cmdr. R. C. Thurber, commanding officer of HMCS Fraser; Lt.-Cmdr. E. M. Jones, commanding officer of HMCS Antigonish and Lt.-Cmdr. G. C. McMorris, commanding officer of HMCS Grise.

Prior to the ball, Cmdr. Thurber and his officers will hold a reception in the wardroom of HMCS Fraser. Their guests will be Rear-Admiral and Mrs. Landymore, Mr. Lyle Wilkinson, president of the Nanaimo branch of the Navy League of Canada, and Mrs. Wilkinson; Mayor Peter Maffeo and Mrs. Maffeo; Mr. Denis W. Brown, Victoria, divisional president and a national vice-president of the league, and Mrs. Brown; Lieut. G. A. Dufour, RCN (Rtd.) and Mrs. Dufour, who is president of the league's Victoria branch.

Leaves Today

Mrs. W. W. McGill left for Trail today where she will be the house guest of Mr. and Mrs. Douglas McMynn. While in Trail, Mrs. McGill will help organize a shell-out campaign, to be held in late October for the Save the Children Fund. She will return to her Mayfair Drive early next week.

Mr. and Mrs. Ronald H. Blusson of Vancouver, announce the engagement of their daughter Sandra Eleanor, to Mr. Graeme C. Howard, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Howard of Victoria. The wedding will take place at 1:30 p.m., on Saturday, May 25, in St. Mary's Anglican Church in Vancouver. Mr. Howard is a graduate in engineering from University of British Columbia.

Cry Goes Out—Rescue Red Cross Volunteers

VANCOUVER (CP)—A Red Cross official this week asked that volunteer women be rescued from drabness.

Dr. John T. Phair, acting commissioner of the Canadian Red Cross, said at the society's central council annual meeting here that the women's work committee operates under too drab a title and suggested a change.

He said the committee keeps Red Cross headquarters in the smaller community from being merely a post office address. "In the larger urban centres it is the rallying point for those who provide the materials which keep the western world in a position to meet part of its responsibilities, both real and implied, to those who have from little to less."

Dr. Phair said the work of the committee is one of the basic activities of the Red Cross.

Mrs. A. J. Trevilcock, national chairman of the committee, said since its establishment in 1939 the women of the committee produced 39,000,000 articles and prepared 71,000,000 dressings for distribution at home and abroad.

Last year overseas shipments were sent to 18 countries. The 655 cases of articles were valued at $146,457.

Jewish Women Champion The Aged

CALGARY (CP)—A broad non-sectarian program for the aged was approved Wednesday by the more than 100 delegates attending the annual convention of the National Council of Jewish Women.

Mr. David Kline of Edmonton, outlining the plan, said retirement should not be mandatory. It should be based on the ability of the worker and whether he desires to continue working.

She said a bureau should be established through which older persons, either active or confined to home, could offer their services to the community and individuals.

The program to aid elderly persons now goes before the 15 Jewish women's regional groups for discussion and action.

The convention also passed a resolution asking an increase in government grants for geriatric health research. Other resolutions requested a national conference on aging and integration of housing developments for the aged with the rest of the community.

Women Still Face Discrimination

Women in professions have achieved equality with men but women in business and public life are still in the process of emancipation. This was view expressed by Mrs. C. C. Warren when she spoke at annual banquet meeting of the Victoria Home Economics and Dietetic Association in the Cavalier Room of the Colony Motor Hotel Wednesday evening.

"Although we have a federal act demanding equal pay for equal work it has never been enforced in regard to women in business. It is time that pressure groups were formed to make the act work."

Mrs. Warren stressed that more women should equip themselves to take part in the administration of local, provincial and federal affairs.

"When we find a qualified woman running for office we should get behind her and support her."

"Both in business and public life women must remember to be brief and to the point."

gracious, enthusiastic. They can be women but never coy. A "thick skin" is a necessity. Women must learn to take open criticism, then be able to take the critic out for a cup of coffee as if nothing had happened."

Speaker was introduced by Mrs. A. B. Young, program convener and thanked by Mrs. C. O. Bawner, retiring president.

New officers are: Mrs. D. R. McLeod, president; Mrs. H. Donaldson, vice-president; Mrs. D. F. Mason, secretary; Miss Joan Groves, treasurer; Miss Lillias Milne, program; Mrs. R. Bradley, social; Mrs. H. S. Clark, publicity and Mrs. Bawner, hospitality and bursary.

Fly From Ottawa for Wedding

The groom's grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. John Whitehorn flew from Ottawa to attend the wedding of Patricia Anne Shirley and Richard Anthony Whitehorn in Gorge Presbyterian Church.

Dr. William J. Klempa officiated at the double-ring ceremony. Spring flowers decorated the church, and pews were marked with white satin bows.

The bride is the daughter of Lt.-Cmdr. Albert E. Shirley, RCN, and Mrs. Shirley, 2826 Wyndest Avenue, Lt.-Cmdr. Shirley gave his daughter in marriage.

Her ballerina-length gown of silk brocade had a basque bodice with scoop neckline and cap sleeves. The softly belled skirt was accented with a pert bow at back. Tiered veil was bouffant and misted from a tiara of seed pearls. Red roses and stephanotis were in the bouquet.

Jaycee-Ettes

Mrs. M. Yole proposed a toast to all mothers who attended recent meeting of Victoria Jaycee-Ettes in the Tally Ho Motor Hotel.

Joe Chapman, Junior Chamber of Commerce, spoke on mental health and thanked members for a White Cross flag made by Mrs. G. Stewart. Ken Kidd, Jaycee's Victoria exhibition director, told of preparations for this year's fair.

During business meeting $20 was allotted to help with transportation costs to Vancouver for the mother of the club's welfare family and the group decided to buy two memberships from the Cerebral Palsy Clinic for $50.

Meeting was completed by an address from Rev. E. Laura Butler.

bouquet. Jewelry was a pearl necklace and earrings, gift of the groom.

Matron of honor, Mrs. G. Gendre chose a gown of pale yellow nylon tulle over taffeta and matching headpiece. Her bouquet was blue and white carnations.

Acting as her sister's bridesmaid, Miss Barbara-Jean Shirley wore a similar ensemble in pale blue and carried salmon pink and white carnations. Flower girl, Penny Jean Reading, the bride's cousin, wore a pale pink organza frock. Her head bandeau of pink and white carnations matched her bouquet.

Norman Brooke was best man and guests were ushered to pews by Michael Shirley, Robert and Wayne Reading.

Trevor Reading proposed the toast to his niece at a reception in HMCS Naden wardroom. Spring flowers set decor. CPO M. J. Vollet was in charge of arrangements and the wedding cake was made by Ldg. Cook A. Merritt. The groom's grandparents assisted the bride's parents in receiving guests.

Leaving on honeymoon, the bride donned a three-piece Jacquard cotton knit outfit in French blue with white overtones, white accessories and pink carnation corsage. Newlyweds will make their home at 420 Superior Street.

Married In Enderby Church

Several Victorians travelled to Enderby recently to attend the wedding of Susan Kathleen Hewitt and Mervin (William) Humphrey. They included the bridesmaid, Miss Lesley Ferriday; the bride's cousin, junior bridesmaid Joy Hewitt, and Jim Hewitt, who helped usher guests.

Mauve and yellow tulips and hyacinths decorated St. Andrew's United Church for the service that united the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Hewitt, of Enderby, and the son of Mrs. Murray Humphrey, Vancouver, and Mrs. Humphrey, Salmon Arm. Rev. Mercer officiated.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a full-length gown of white brocade styled with lily-point sleeves. Her veil was shoulder-length. Yellow roses were in the bouquet.

Both matron of honor, Mae Dangel, and Miss Ferriday were gowned in yellow nylon and lace and carried bouquets of mauve and yellow marguerites. The junior bridesmaid wore a yellow nylon frock and carried spring flowers in a basket.

Maurice Smaha, Grindrod, B.C., was best man. The other usher was Ray Humphrey, Vancouver.

The bride's uncle and godfather, Norman Nielsen, proposed the toast at a reception in the Legion Hall. Mauve and yellow floral decor was used. There were 100 guests for the wedding dance.

Leaving on a honeymoon trip the bride donned a turquoise wool suit, white hat, black accessories and pink carnation corsage.

The newlyweds will live at Grindrod.

Courts History Reviewed at Club

At meeting of the Comitas Club held in the Cordova Bay home of Mrs. K. G. Wiper, Herbert L. Matthews, barrister and solicitor, reviewed history of the courts and dealt with court room procedures. He was introduced by Mrs. K. Murphy and thanked by Mrs. W. G. Hughes.

Book reviews were given by Mrs. J. F. Tysoe, Miss Patricia Holden and Mrs. Percy Weston at a business meeting in the Beach Drive home of Mrs. Vincent Smith. Another business meeting was held in the View Royal home of Mrs. D. G. Ferguson when letters of thanks were read from Victoria College for the annual $50 scholarship and $80 gift to the college library for purchase of selected books of English and American contemporary literature.

Mrs. R. C. Newby presided at all meetings.

DEAR ABBY . . .

Forget Her!

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I am married to the coldest woman this side of Alaska. I'll bet she hasn't kissed me in two years. I met a cute little woman who is just what the doctor ordered. Am I justified? A man is not made of wood you know.

ONLY HUMAN

DEAR ONLY: I KNOW a man is not made of wood. (Just his head.) The cute little woman may be "just what the doctor ordered," but she is NOT what fortune dealt you nor what your pastor delivered. Forget her, and try to thaw out your wife.

DEAR ABBY: I work in a factory with many girls. One day last week one of the girls had what she called a "Charlie Horse" in the calf of her leg. Our foreman (a married man of about 55) said his wife got them all the time and he knew how to get rid of them. Well, this girl (she is also married) let the foreman massage her leg! That very evening all the other girls went home on time and the foreman asked this one girl with the "Charlie Horse" to stay. She got an hour's "overtime" pay. What do you think about that?

WORKING GIRL

DEAR WORKING GIRL: I would have to know more about the girl, the foreman, the "overtime"—and you!

DEAR ABBY: Why is it that women cannot bear to see a happy, moderately well-to-do bachelor enjoy his freedom without wanting to ruin everything for him by getting him married to a "lovely woman" (either themselves or a friend) who is looking for a lifetime of support, or a father for her noisy, spoiled brats?

I am 41 and perfectly contented to remain a bachelor for the rest of my life. And I know many other bachelors who feel the same way. I wish these women would leave us happy, hard-working bachelors alone once we have refused their advances on the subject of marriage. You probably won't publish this, but if you do, sign me—

DEAR J.: The next time a woman tries to interest you in marriage (for herself or a friend), recite your little speech to her and that will be all, brother!

CONFIDENTIAL TO "J". The easiest way to teach children the value of money is to borrow it from them!

What's on your mind? For a personal reply, send a self-addressed, stamped envelope to Abby, Box 3365, Beverly Hills, Calif.

For Abby's booklet, "How To Have A Lovely Wedding," send 50 cents to Abby, Box 3365, Beverly Hills, Calif.

Youth Groups Auction Sale

Cordova Bay United Church youth groups will hold an auction sale in Cordova Bay Community Hall on Saturday starting at 2:30 p.m. Coffee and doughnuts will be served and pop for the children. There will be a car wash by members of the H.C. group; a home baking sale provided by parents and members of the church. A trained auctioneer has been offered by Maynard and Sons.

New help for the MISERY OF PSORIASIS

New healing preparation works 3 ways at once to help clear up the symptoms of PSORIASIS

Clinically tested. Your money back if TEGRIN does not give relief. Psoriasis can leave your skin so crusty and scaly you feel embarrassed, self-conscious, ill at ease. But now, there is new help for psoriasis sufferers—a new clinically tested healing preparation called TEGRIN.*

Unique triple-action cream

TEGRIN is an efficient cream you can purchase at all drug counters. So easy and pleasant to use—even on the scalp—with no lingering medical smell or stain. And it's effective because it works three ways at once:

1. Scale removal and itch control—the use of TEGRIN helps to relieve itching promptly; scales and crust "pile-ups" are loosened and come away.
2. Healing of the skin—the soothing action of TEGRIN speeds improvement by encouraging the natural ability of the skin tissue to recover and heal itself.
3. Prevention of recurrent scales—timely re-application of TEGRIN provides a special preventive action that opposes and helps block off the formation of new scales.

Dramatic clearing reported

Before its introduction, the TEGRIN formula was subjected to exhaustive investigation. Extensive clinical tests were conducted. The results of these studies showed the TEGRIN formula to be effective in relieving psoriasis. Clinical reports dealing with the results of treatment show that the TEGRIN formula has an impressive achievement record.

The manufacturers of TEGRIN sincerely believe this is one of the most effective medications ever developed to give relief and control of psoriatic skin disturbances. If after a fair trial, the user is not satisfied with TEGRIN, the manufacturer will refund the cost of the purchase.

So why suffer from the miseries of psoriasis? For effective relief, get new TEGRIN today.

Here are the 13 spots where psoriasis most often starts:

- (1) scalp
- (2) neck
- (3) shoulders
- (4) elbows
- (5) arms
- (6) hands
- (7) chest
- (8) back
- (9) mid areas
- (10) knees
- (11) thighs
- (12) legs
- (13) feet

But no matter where psoriasis may strike, new TEGRIN brings symptomatic relief.

AVAILABLE NOW AT ALL DRUG COUNTERS TEGRIN DIVISION • BLOCK DRUG COMPANY (CANADA) LIMITED • TORONTO 16 *Tegrin is a Registered Trademark of Block Drug Company (Canada) Limited

IT'S A MISERY if psoriasis spreads—leaves your skin rough and scaly. A misery when psoriasis keeps recurring.

pointed to Archie's love of the ladies.

"If he had a penny for every woman he has kissed, he would be able to build the new Y building alone," he said.

Archie sat and listened throughout all this "bullyhoo," as he termed it; and everyone could see that he was deeply moved.

Then he rose and told why he was at the dinner:

"I'm not going to go through all that honored guests routine," he said quietly, "because I know all of you so well."

"I really don't deserve your kindness. I have erred, I have sinned, and I am very human."

A Wee Guy

"I am only a wee guy, and I have only been able to do a few little things in my lifetime."

"If I hadn't known you and people like you, I wouldn't have been anything at all. And I don't think I'm anything now. Please forgive me."

"I don't know if you all realize what it means to a youngster to know people like yourselves," he said addressing the senior members of the gathering.

"I was just a kid in 1913 when I first joined the Y, and I can remember people like Bob (the Hon. Robert) Mayhew, going all out to give youngsters the best."

Credits Mother

"It was my mother who got me my first membership card, and it has meant everything to me ever since. I see there are some of her friends out there—God bless you for coming," he said.

"If you can give the girls and boys of this city a new building you'll be doing more than you realize," he promised.

"Let me give you an idea of what the 'Y' can mean."

"I am teaching a boy to swim—he's a little boy who isn't quite up to par, who hasn't an ounce of confidence in himself."

Scared

"After three lessons he still wouldn't move a foot in the water without holding tightly on to my hands. He was scared to death."

"Well, last week I had a cold and couldn't go in the water. It was his fourth lesson. Well, I sat down on the bench and tried to sell him."

"Now it's your turn to carry the ball," I told him. "You're going to do it without Archie's help."

"I talked to him from the side of the pool, encouraging him to back up from the ladder and get into a 'glide.' I kept selling him all the way."

Sales Job

"He kept clinging to the ladder while he gradually moved his feet out. He never took his eyes off me, and I kept talking and selling all the way."

"Suddenly his hands left the ladder and he was gliding freely in the water. You should have seen the expression in that boy's face."

"I've got it," he yelled—I asked him what he's got.

"His eyes—hit up: 'I've got courage,' he said."

"That's what the YMCA—not just Archie McKinnon; by anyone here — can do for a kid," the coach said.

Archie's Plea

"See that these youngsters get the right facilities," he pleaded. "The new building is all I've got to worry about now. Give us a good building."

It was then that Archie McKinnon wept.

He and Dorothy had been paraded in to the dining room to the sound of the pipes.

They left to a mammoth chorus of "They are jolly good fellows," and a rousing three cheers.

Later, Archie stood beside his wife outside the door of the dining room and shook hands with everyone who came out. For every woman present he had a special kiss and a hug.

"God bless you, Archie," they said.

"We'll see you get your building."

Opium In Truck

ISTANBUL (AP)—Police investigated a fatal traffic accident in northeastern Turkey Wednesday and found $220,000 worth of smuggled opium in an overturned truck, press reports said. The police found 1,060 pounds of opium concealed in a special floor section after the speeding truck flipped over near Gumushane.

Police believe the narcotics belonged to a passenger on the truck who died in the crash. The driver, who suffered minor injuries, was arrested.

Assaulter Fined $350 In Nanaimo

NANAIMO—A man charged with common assault in the vicious beating of Joseph Mazza in a barroom fight was fined $350 and bound on probation by Magistrate Lionel Beevor-Potts Wednesday.

Colin Eccles was told by the magistrate:

Mazza hovered on the brink of death with head injuries, undergoing treatment in Nanaimo and Victoria hospitals.

DUNCAN—Cowichan Senior

Features will include a fashion show, variety show, games, concessions, auction, white elephant sale and a "beatnik" room.

The evening will close with the crowning of "Miss CHS," who will be chosen from the following students: Marie Norrie, Jane Henley-Lewis, Kris Pederson, Joyce Ross, Dianna Melino, Merilee Drader, Louise Kennedy, Suzanne Russell, Marilyn Holderson, Gay Taylor, Carole Fought and Margaret Herber.

DUNCAN—The local Jaycee-sponsored teenage safe driving contest will be held Sunday in the Safeway parking lot, Trunk Road.

Contest chairman Maurice Keeble reports that 17 boys and two girls have entered the contest. Entries will be accepted until the contest is due to open.

The written examination will be held in one of the shopping plaza stores, starting at 10 a.m. The practical driving tests will follow at 1 p.m.

Winners of Sunday's contest will compete in the provincial finals at Victoria, and the B.C. champion will participate in the national finals, all expenses paid, in Quebec City.

DUNCAN—Lance Parsey, Nanaimo, was sentenced Wednesday to two years in the B.C. penitentiary.

He had previously pleaded guilty to breaking and entering three oil company premises at Cowichan Bay, and a service station in Duncan. Parsey also pleaded guilty to a speeding charge, but stated he preferred the seven-day jail term to the fine of $25.

Also charged with the first four above offences Henry Noel Steit, of Duncan, requested a further remand to seek legal advice. He has not yet entered a plea.

DUNCAN—A 100-year-old canoe has been reported stolen from Fred Thorne of Allenby Road.

The dugout is 24 feet long, three feet wide, and is faded blue inside and black on the outside.

J. Flanagan reported the theft of a 12-foot clinker-built boat from Somenos Lake. Local RCMP are investigating both incidents.

NANAIMO—About 150 rock hunters from all parts of B.C. will gather here for a meeting May 18-20.

Members of the Lapidary Rock and Mineral Society of B.C. will organize tours and rock-hunting expeditions as well as take part in business sessions.

NANAIMO—Someone dumped a load of garbage around the main entrance to city hall.

Officials suggested it might have been a youthful protest of a recent revamping of city by-laws barring those under 18 from city pool halls.

Mayor Pete Matfeo said if this was the case, he was disappointed in the youths responsible.

B.C. Suspends Oil Action

B.C. is hoping its off-shore oil rights battle with the federal government can be settled out of court.

Mines Minister Kenneth Kiernan said Wednesday that legal action by the provincial government has been suspended in the hope that a federal-provincial conference could solve the problem.

He said he has asked Northern Affairs Minister Arthur Laing for a meeting.

The B.C. government fought three years with the former Conservative government in Ottawa on the oil issue. But the new Liberal administration might prove easier to deal with.

Earlier this year Mr. Kiernan announced that B.C. was preparing to take its fight to court.

AVOID EXPENSE

Wednesday he said: "We hope we can settle the matter by diplomacy and avoid the expense and bother of legal action."

The trouble began in 1960. B.C. had granted an exploration permit to Richfield Oil in an area off the Queen Charlotte Islands. The federal government declared the company would lose its rights unless it obtained a permit from Ottawa.

A number of other companies are interested in off-shore exploration, but have been deterred by the B.C. Ottawa hassle.

Mr. Kiernan is confident. "B.C. has so strong a case that I can't see what Ottawa could possibly base its stand on."

B.C.'s case is that it retained all mineral rights under terms of joining confederation and has not since given them up.

UN GROUP ASKS BOYCOTT OF S. AFRICA

UNITED NATIONS (AP)—The 11-nation special committee campaigning to halt South Africa's apartheid policies demanded again Wednesday that the world break diplomatic and trade relations with that white-ruled nation.

The demand was made in an interim report submitted to the UN Security Council and the General Assembly.

Six to Seek Liberal Bid For Columbia

The scent of victory has attracted six candidates for the Liberal nomination in British Columbia's next provincial by-election, Fernie MLA Harry McKay said here Wednesday.

The contest will be in Columbia, a riding bordering the north end of Mr. McKay's Fernie.

It was represented by Social Credit Richard Orr Newton until his death during this year's legislative session in February.

"It's going to be a terrific fight—between the Liberals and the New Democratic Party," Mr. McKay predicted.

The Liberals won the first British Columbia by-election, at Vancouver Point Grey, last December 17, with a huge majority, and they are anxious to tackle Columbia.

ENCOURAGEMENT

Mr. McKay said there was a lot of encouragement from a solid Liberal vote in that area in the recent federal election. It is part of the federal riding of Kootenay East, won by Liberal James Byrne.

The government has not set a date for the by-election, but it must be before October, barring any unexpected general election call.

Mr. Newton's majority was 240 votes in the last general election, 1960. He polled 1,115 votes, the NDP runner-up had 775 and the Liberal 393.

Liberal leader Ray Perrault has already started campaigning in the area.

Mr. McKay, a Fernie lawyer, was in Victoria on constituency business.

The major current problem is layoff of 100 miners in the area. The Liberal MLA said he hoped to find some work for the men on provincial park projects.

Members of Victoria Four-square Church, 891 Esquimalt Road, will attend the annual four-day convention of Four-square Churches of Western Canada and the Northwest United States opening in Portland Monday.

Keynote speaker will be Dr. Howard Courtney, Los Angeles, general supervisor of the more than 850 Four-square churches.

'FREEMAN OF VICTORIA'

Archie to Receive City's High Honor

By IAIN HUNTER

The highest honor which a city can bestow will be given by Victoria to Archie McKinnon, it was announced Wednesday night.

Mayor R. B. Wilson told an audience of 400 at a testimonial dinner at the Empress Hotel for the former Olympic and YMCA coach, that city council had voted unanimously to make Archie a freeman of the city.

He will be the fifth man to be so honored.

The resolution was made at a special meeting of the committee of the whole April 11. Date for the formal ceremony, to be held in council chamber, has yet to be announced.

"This is the most delightful occasion which has occurred in Victoria for a very long time," the mayor told the gathering of municipal representatives, Gyro Club and YMCA officials and friends.

"It is the desire of the whole community to pay tribute to you," he told Archie, to whom the honor came as a surprise. The resolution read:

STORE CLERK ACCUSED OF SALES

Alky Kills N.Y. Derelicts

NEW YORK (AP)—The death toll from wood alcohol poisoning among Bowery derelicts may reach 31, officials say. Autopsies continued today on suspected victims of the lethal liquid.

A hardware store clerk has been accused of selling wood alcohol that killed two of the derelicts.

Additional autopsies Wednesday disclosed that at least 10

deaths among Bowery men resulted from imbibing wood alcohol, with 21 additional deaths apparently due to the same cause.

Several deaths attributed to drinking the alcohol were reported earlier in the week in Brooklyn.

David Feit, 65, employed in a Lower East Side hardware store, was arrested Wednesday night on a homicide charge, accused of selling "denatured alcohol which caused the deaths of two persons."

Assistant District Attorney Ernest H. Hammer said pint cans of alcohol sold last Sunday were clearly labelled "specially denatured solvent" and bore a skull and crossbones.

There were 19 patients in Bellevue Hospital with suspected alcohol poisoning.

By HAROLD MORRISON

WASHINGTON (CP)—A high administrative source said today President Kennedy is concerned about a heavy flow of U.S. investment funds to Canada and its impact on U.S. international dollar deficits.

He also feels there is an urgent need to remove barriers to final implementation of the Columbia River power treaty.

This informant, close to the president, said Kennedy is ready to renegotiate the Columbia River power treaty. But Kennedy's view is that any renegotiation must be limited. Otherwise the U.S. would feel Canada had broken her bargain to join in launching the big west coast power development.

This informant said also that Kennedy, in meeting with Pearson at Hyannis Port, Mass., Friday and Saturday, will seek to reconcile differences which under the Diefenbaker administration almost led to a complete breakdown in Canadian-American relations during the last 12 months.

"STIFF ATTITUDE" It was the view in Kennedy's circle that this slowdown in relations arose not because of a U.S. working paper that may have fallen into Diefenbaker's hands, but because the Progressive Conservatives adopted a stiff attitude toward the U.S. in an attempt to recoup losses at the polls.

Kennedy feels unfinished business with the previous Canadian administration — the Columbia River treaty and Canadian acquisition of nuclear warheads — should be cleared up quickly.

This source emphasized that the U.S. will not charge Canada any money for Bormac nuclear warheads which will remain under U.S. custody and control.

There will be no pressure by Kennedy that Pearson move quickly on this point.

In the same way, Kennedy is willing to ease pressure that Canada join the Organization of American States.

SEEK PARALLEL VIEWS The spirit of Hyannis Port, he suggested, would be one of seeking parallel views on issues confronting the two countries.

Some issues may be difficult to resolve because the Liberal leader has some strong views on international matters that may not be in accord with U.S. policy.

Kennedy would like Canadians to show more care about borrowing large sums in the U.S. financial market.

Aside from the political problem created by increased American investments in Canada, the U.S. government is trying to curtail the exodus of U.S. dollars and gold. Kennedy is concerned about the flow of U.S. dollars to Canada but the informant said he has no solution in mind and certainly will not impose government restrictions on the export of dollars. It is simply something he wants to discuss with Pearson.

Noting that Canada's trade with Cuba has been drastically reduced over the last year, the informant said it would be Kennedy's hope that Canada might take still other measures to restrict trade and relations with Cuba but again this would be left for Pearson to decide. No pressure would be exerted.

The U.S. also is unhappy about Canada's wheat sales to Red China but after reviewing the strong support the Prairie provinces gave to the Progressive Conservatives in the last election, the administration has concluded there is little it can do to persuade the new Canadian government to change this sales policy.

BIG CROWD EXPECTED AT ARRIVALS

HYANNIS PORT, Mass. (AP)—President Kennedy and Prime Minister Pearson who arrive simultaneously Friday for a weekend meeting, will be greeted by a crowd of thousands at Otis Air Force base near here. Base Commander Col. Rudolph B. Walters announced today that the big airfield will be thrown open to the public at 10 a.m. EST in anticipation of the noon arrivals by the president and Prime Minister—the first meeting since Pearson became head of the government of Canada.

Col. Walters announced that ten minutes after Kennedy arrives he is expected to greet the arriving Canadian prime minister.

Haiti Raises Race Issue Before UN

UNITED NATIONS (AP)—Haiti asked the United Nations Security Council Wednesday to halt what it called repeated threats of aggression by the Dominican Republic. The Dominican Republic quickly denied the charges and proposed that the Dominican Haitian dispute be left in the hands of the Organization of American States.

Representatives of the two countries exchanged charges as the 11-nation council took up the problem at the request of Haiti. They spoke as the chairman of the OAS council sent word he was coming to New York to confer with Haitian Foreign Minister Rene Chalmers.

Haiti's bid for African and Soviet Bloc support appeared to be making little headway. Some African UN delegates questioned the wisdom of Chalmers in making the racial question a major factor in the Security Council's debate on the dispute.

"BLACK REPUBLIC" Chalmers charged in the opening session of the debate that Dominican threats are part of an attempt to destroy "the only black republic in North America."

The first dependents of Canadian government employees in Haiti, ordered to leave the country as a safety measure, arrived in Miami Wednesday night.

About 375 Canadian Roman Catholic missionaries are remaining in Haiti but they probably will leave if the situation grows worse, a church spokesman said in Ottawa.

The anti-Duvalier underground has threatened an uprising by May 15. Meanwhile the OAS is without authority to intervene in what is essentially a Haitian affair.

Although the statement did not say so explicitly, it appeared to be a reference to the holdup of an army paymaster April 30 in east-end Montreal. The paymaster, Lieut. J. J. Marcel Ste. Marie, 44, was shot in the ankle, calf and thigh when he refused to give up a briefcase containing some $35,000 to pay troops at the Longue Pointe army depot. At least three took part in the holdup. The death of W. V. O'Neill, 65, in the explosion of a time bomb at the rear of the army recruiting station in Montreal had been tentatively blamed by police on the FLQ.

NEGRO CHILDREN CLAIM MISTREATMENT IN JAIL

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP)—Negro teen-agers arrested in racial demonstrations here this week told reporters they were mistreated at county jails. Sheriff Melvin Bailey denied the charges.

Several youngsters said Wednesday they were struck by white guards, and one teen-age girl said she was placed in a sweat box for several hours.

"If we forgot to say 'Yes, Mam,' or 'Yes, Sir,' we were put in the sweat box," she said.

Bailey said county officers followed all proper procedures and denied that any of the demonstrators had been mistreated.

TALKS GOING ON

Shaky Truce In Alabama

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (UPI)—Negro and White leaders plunged into 11th-hour negotiations today in an attempt to head off another outbreak of civil rights demonstrations.

Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., leader of the massive racial protests that have sent more than 2,200 Negroes to jail, and two of his aides departed abruptly from their motel shortly before noon, en route to a conference.

It was learned that top leaders representing the white community also had been summoned to another negotiating session somewhere in the city.

A shaky truce prevailed. Negro leaders said they were hopeful that some accord could be reached prior to a news conference called by King.

While the talks were going on, a large force of helmeted state troopers patrolled the vicinity of a park adjoining the Negro Baptist Church that has been the rallying point for the Negro demonstrations.

More than 600 officers were on duty in the city and local authorities expressed confidence they could maintain order.

REJECTION?

There was some speculation the President might have received a formal rejection from Premier Khrushchev, but this could not be confirmed. However, U.S. Ambassador Foy D. Kohler and under-secretary of State Averell Harriman already had reported the Russian leaders showed no enthusiasm for the proposal.

Kennedy said Russia and the West appeared to be moving away from "an agreement and 'if we don't get it now, I would think generally the genie is out of the bottle and we will never get him back in.'"

Killings Mark Strife in Syria

DAMASCUS, Syria (AP)—Pro-Nasser rioting and gunfire were reported again today in Damascus and Aleppo as the crisis between Nasserites and the ruling Ba'ath Socialists party continued in Syria.

Casualties were indicated in the northern city of Aleppo, where the army was trying to maintain a curfew. The government said a policeman was killed there Wednesday, many police were injured and a large number of arrests made.

A Western diplomat in Aleppo reported by telephone that crowds turned out in the pro-Nasser quarters of the ancient city. He said heavy gunfire was heard, followed by light firing through the morning.

The diplomat said most of the shooting apparently was directed into the crowds and "the army appears to have the situation in hand."

STUDENTS RIOT In Damascus, hundreds of students shouting support for President Nasser seized control of Damascus High School and fired stones from the roof for three hours at police in the street below. Riot police finally dispersed the students by firing shots in the air.

Four other pro-Nasser demonstrations were reported in other sections of the city. The reports said armored cars moved in troops broke up the demonstrations by firing into the air.

No casualties were reported among the Damascus demonstrators, but several policemen were hurt by stones.

ALBERTA ELECTION JUNE 17

EDMONTON (CP)—Premier E. C. Manning of Alberta announced today a provincial general election will be held Monday, June 17.

The government received a five-year mandate in 1959 but traditionally has called an election every four years.

It will be the seventh time the Social Credit government has gone to the people for a mandate—the sixth under Premier Manning—since it swept into power under William Aberhart in 1935. Mr. Manning became premier June 1, 1943, shortly after the death of Mr. Aberhart.

In the last general election, June 18, 1959, Social Credit received a record 55.68 per cent of the popular vote and captured 61 of 65 seats in the House.

Withdrawal Refused

Arthur Mayse

Year by year and little by little, the harsh facts of life corrode away our illusions.

We plumb the inner meaning of no down payment and 36 easy installments.

We find that a garden is never leaf-perfect, that our frailties outlast our good resolutions, that Eden has its serpent and Oak Bay municipality its rats.

It hurt to learn about those rats in Oak Bay's compost. Out here in sloppy Saanich, where a car may disappear in a pothole and it takes a mighty good man to find his way between street lights, Oak Bay has long been one of my more cherished illusions.

Peering from our borders into that happy land, I've always assumed it to be a demi-paradise. When I drove through—they let us do that sometimes, if our visas are in order and we don't loiter—I envied Oak Bay's fatcat burghers their pavements and tended boulevards and the like.

It impressed me enormously to learn a while ago that Oak Bay was considering a ban on trailer boats in driveways. Also, although we Saanichites take care not to approach too close, I've admired Oak Bay's Old English police station and looked forward to the day when the cops would adopt beef-eater uniforms.

But rats in the compost... I don't know... Somehow that changes the picture...

Still, even though the idyll has been marred by this revelation, we mustn't abandon a sister municipality in her hour of need.

The obvious solution to Oak Bay's little problem... you know, tails and whiskers... is to send the loathsome intruders back to their Saanich homeland.

Here, we never worry about rats until our cats and smaller dogs turn up missing; in fact I don't know how we'd weather a hard winter without the creatures. Perhaps what Oak Bay needs is a Pied Piper. Offhand I can suggest a dozen promising resident candidates, any of whom the compost-haunting visitors would welcome as a brother. He could lead his enchanted army through Saanich on a safe conduct from our reeve to Mount Douglas; and there where an old copper mine offers convenient entry, lose them.

Should Oak Bay Council give him a bad time over his fee—they're sticklers for tradition and would undoubtedly go by the book—he could pipe the municipality's once-pleasant Willows Beach and Esplanade free of their junior rodents as a make-weight.

But this is mere day-dreaming. Oak Bay still entertains furry friends in its lavish compost heaps, and the Pied Piper is only a legend after all.

One fact stands plain: Oak Bay must strike to the root of the infestation without delay. Plow the gardens under and there'll be no need of compost. With their backyard playgrounds removed, the horde might patter on to Esquimalt.

Naturally, if Oak Bay residents feel they can't cope, Saanich will gladly offer them sanctuary. We have land still unsubdivided, no high-rises yet, at least I don't think so, quite a few sewers and a fairly decent climate.

More important, here where the woods echo at night to the howl of the irked taxpayer and the road-strips get a municipal stubble-cut every year or two, we call a rat a rat and tolerate no nonsense from him.

Come to think of it, that's a pretty generous offer, when you consider the high-nosed Oak Bay attitude toward her poor relation.

Back in the years before the rats took over, Oak Bay wanted no part of us; wouldn't, in fact, accept us as a gift.

Well, that's all done with now, purpsprout Oak Bay humbled by a squeak and a scurry in its once-pristine compost bins.

Second class citizens though we of Saanich may be, we don't cherish grudges. The daffodil curtain's lifted. Come on over, we'll protect you!

Topics of the Day

Art Gallery officials are prepared for big crowds to see "Craftsmen in Action" Friday afternoon and evening and Saturday afternoon at the Moss Street premises. More than 40 local experts in pottery, weaving, fly-tying, leatherwork, carving, basketry and other crafts will be on hand to demonstrate their specialties. Some of the articles may be purchased.

Service of two Victoria doctors has won them a place on the American College of Physicians, along with four other B.C. medical men.

Dr. Llewellyn Roberts, 3974 Telegraph Bay, and Dr. James Sinclair, 555 Monterey, were elected by the college as fellows.

Doctors are added as fellows or as associates.

An inquest into the death of a laborer who fell over 70 feet to his death from an Oak Bay high-rise apartment Wednesday will be held, the coroner, Dr. J. H. Moore, indicated today.

Date of the inquest will be announced when the autopsy has been completed.

Lloyd Quinlan, 31, of 587 Wootton, Netchosin, was working on the eighth floor of the partially completed 10-storey Ruyard Kipling apartment block on Beach Drive when he fell.

A former leading seaman in the B.C.N. he is survived by the widow, Catherine; two daughters, Keely, four, and Tish, one, and a son, Mitchell, five.

Funeral arrangements will be announced by Chaplin's funeral home.

Mystery Fire Wipes Out Malahat Cabin

A three-room cabin on the Malahat has burned to the ground, it was learned here today.

The house of frame construction, on what is known as the Jones estate, was situated on the west side of the Island Highway, about 300 yards south of the Dutch Latch.

The fire occurred Tuesday night.

There was no one in the house at the time of the blaze which was noticed at about 8 p.m.

Cause of the fire is unknown, and it was not attended by any fire department.

Firing practice will be held Tuesday by Brave Company of the First Battalion Princess Patricia's Canadian Light Infantry at Albert Head and Mary Hill camps.

Grenades will be used at Albert Head, and 3.5-inch rocket launcher practice rounds will be fired at Mary Hill. Shoot is between hours of 8 a.m. and 4 p.m.

Victoria Short Wave Club will meet Friday at 8 p.m. in the clubhouse, 2500 Foul Bay Road. Following the meeting there will be a tour of the Multiplex Division of the Department of Lands and Forests showing how topographic maps are made.

The real estate industry in B.C. has launched a campaign to raise more than $100,000 for an education and research foundation.

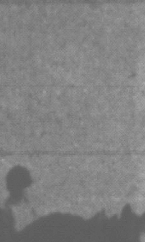

Campaign chairman for the Victoria district, including the Gulf Islands, is L. E. Kirk of Northwestern Securities of Victoria Ltd.

Funds will be used to provide more teachers for university real estate subjects, more research work and additions to the UBC library real estate section.

Sales and Marketing Executives' Club of Victoria will hold its election of officers Monday at a dinner meeting in the Oak Bay Beach Hotel.

The election will be followed by a discussion of club bylaws.

"Freedom Through Theosophy," a tape-recorded lecture written by Mrs. Mollie Griffith and read by Mrs. Jo Andrews, will be played at a public meeting of Besant Lodge, Theosophical Society, 732 Cormorant Street, Sunday at 7:30 p.m.

Services In City Greater

7.3 Per Cent Hike
Noted by Mayor

Mayor R. B. Wilson today expressed satisfaction with a 7.3 per cent increase in this year's civic services even while the tax rate remains at 55 mills.

He said an analysis of this year's budget showed $711,796 more than last year will be spent even after discounting the purely inflationary increase of some $92,000 for wage hikes.

Leaving out wage increases altogether, the city's budget will jump from $9,776,328 spent last year to a record total of $10,488,125 this year—with out adding a single mill to the general or school tax load.

(This includes the 1963 instalments for paying off the approximately $1,000,000 worth of new capital work involved in the centennial square.

INCREASES GENERAL
Increases in spending for all departments were registered, ranging from a low of 1.8 per cent for parks to a high of 28.1 per cent for street lighting.

Total increase for all ordinary expenditures is $374,555 for an average hike of 6.9 per cent. The social welfare, education and debt charges rose an average 10.6 per cent or a total of $411,969.

Only item cut back from last year's level was expenditure for new special projects (excluding centennial square and the civic carpark) which was held to $422,427 compared with $497,221 last year.

Mayor Wilson said much of the credit for the present happy situation should go to preceding regimes when the pay-as-you-go policy was instituted and carried out.

He said the city had built a solid foundation over the years for steady progress without economic hardship.

ARMY MOVE REPORT CONFIRMED

The defence department today confirmed a forthcoming switch in army units here.

Defence Minister Paul Hellyer said the Princess Patricia's Canadian Light Infantry, now stationed at Work Point, will go to Germany.

First Battalion, Queen's Own Rifles will return here from the NATO brigade. The move was predicted by the Times Tuesday. Local sources set the switch for Nov. 1.

Mr. Hellyer also said that the second regiment of the Royal Canadian Horse Artillery, now stationed at Winnipeg, will exchange postings with the third regiment, now serving in West Germany.

R. W. Sandy, a native son of Victoria, returned here today in his capacity of police magistrate at Fort St. John—fast growing gas and oil town at the northern terminus of the Pacific Great Eastern Railway.

Modest quiet-spoken Mr. Sandy is one of 125 magistrates from all corners of B.C. who are attending a two-day magistrates' conference at the Empress Hotel—the first to be held in Victoria since the conference was founded in 1950.

Born and educated here, Mr. Sandy joined the B.C. provincial police in 1933 and saw service in many parts of the province before his appointment at Fort St. John four years ago.

"Our problems grow with the population," he said. "We now have about 10,000 people, including the housing settlements that are springing up around the town."

FLOATING POPULATION

"There is, of course, a floating population of people who don't stay long and they provide a fair proportion of the drunks who appear in my court six mornings a week."

"Otherwise, we have a fairly orderly town and there is surprisingly little in the way of juvenile delinquency when you consider the variety of people we have."

Another distant delegate is Magistrate T. H. Blackburn from the northern settlement of Fort St. James, which was founded by Simon Fraser in 1806, but did not get electric power until 1952.

B.C.'s newest magistrate, J. S. Don, is expected later today from Hudson Hope, a community of workers employed on the new $70,000,000 Peace River dam.

H. S. Noakes, formerly at Ganges, Salt Spring Island, is back here as magistrate of Dawson Creek.

The conference opened this morning with a welcome by Mayor R. B. Wilson, Attorney-General Robert Bonner and Dr. Gilbert Kennedy, deputy attorney-general.

Mr. Bonner revealed that, of 107 narcotic addicts treated at Oakalla Prison up to Feb. 1 last year, 96 had been discharged. Of these, three had since died; 60 had returned to prison at different levels; 30 had not returned to the courts at any level.

"There is no problem more difficult than this treatment of drug addiction," he said, "and it is one we must tackle with patience and all the skill we can command."

Mr. Bonner said his department is expanding the service of legally-trained district magistrates to different parts of the province, where they can be consulted by local magistrates on special problems.

PAYS TRIBUTE

Mayor Wilson paid tribute to Magistrate W. L. Ostler of Victoria, who is chairing the conference, as "a man who is very highly respected in this community."

Early Contract Seen for Paving On West Coast

A contract is expected in a few days for paving 23.7 miles of road on Vancouver Island's west coast.

Low bidder when tenders were opened Wednesday was Western Paving Ltd. with a figure of $291,080.

Twenty miles of road will be paved between Tofino and Ucluelet plus 3.7 miles south from the junction of this road on the highway to Alberni.

Mines Minister Kenneth Kiernan said completion of the work could prove a booster for mining activity in the area.

Birthday Party Salvation Of Near-Drowned Toddler

A six-year-old's birthday was saved the life of a preschool toddler Wednesday at noon.

Charles Boyd, who works at the Gorge Hotel, usually returns to his home at 2812 Irma Street for lunch, but Wednesday his six-year-old daughter was having a birthday party at home so he took his lunch to the Kinsmen's Gorge Park.

While sitting in his car at the foot of Sloux Place, he saw a young girl fall into the pond at the other end of the foot bridge.

He raced across the bridge and rescued the girl who was floating face down in about three feet of water.

Artificial respiration was not necessary as the child soon began to cry.

Mr. Boyd was met by the mother of the child who came running down the hill, but who she remains unknown.

"I don't really care who she

Women Foes Of High Rise Fight On

By JOHN MIKA

Those three housewives are still at it.

Dressed in spring finery, the three women descended on City Hall this morning to demand better high-rise zoning practices.

They found ready sympathy from Mayor R. B. Wilson who suggested they make a formal presentation to the next city council meeting.

"We will urge council to adopt a community plan for the capital region," said Mrs. Shirley Dowell, 3270 Upper Terrace, after the session with the mayor.

She was accompanied by Mrs. Anne Gray, 3690 Crestview, and Mrs. Katherine Cameron, 3699 Crestview.

The three women last month spearheaded a campaign for better control of high rise apartment development. They compiled more than 1,400 names in support of their stand.

END SPOT ZONERS

"We think that adoption of a revised Capital Region Planning Board plan for the area would end this spot zoning and give better protection to the citizens," said Mrs. Dowell.

She said the trio was pleased to hear the city had included money in this year's budget for preparation of a Victoria master plan but felt that a comprehensive plan for the whole area would be even better.

The housewives already have seen numerous civic and provincial planning officials and Saanich Reeve Stanley Murphy.

They are scheduled to address the next meeting of the Victoria University Development Board and later hope to buttonhole Oak Bay Reeve George Murdoch and Esquimalt Reeve A. C. Wurtele.

One accused is a 17-year-old juvenile arrested by Saanich police with David Gene Wood, 21, of 7895 East Saanich Road. Both were expected to appear in court later today.

Rodney Lenson, 20, of 951 Bay, appeared in city police court charged with burglary and theft at Bert's Fine Foods, owned by Egbert Van Akker, at 2576 Quadra.

He was remanded on $1,000 bail for election of trial Tuesday.

Saanich police made their arrests after four B.C. Telephone Co. pay phones were stolen from street boxes at Town and Country Plaza, in Saanich; Douglas at Humboldt, Government at Humboldt, and Blanshard at Yates, all in Victoria.

Two young men were stopped in a car on Douglas at 4:15 a.m., police said.

Money recovered totalled $65.27, and further investigation led police to three telephones which had been dumped over the bluff on Dallas Road waterfront near Cook.

VALUED AT $250

Each of the phones is valued at $250, police were told by the utility company.

Storekeeper Van Akker said it was his shop's second burglary within a month. The previous loss was a quantity of cash and several cartons of cigarettes.

Last night, after a rear door was kicked open, the only thing missing was a sack of pennies, he said.

Pay Award May Stall Oil Strike

A conciliation officer's award of 15 cents an hour wage increase over two years may forestall threat of a petroleum industry strike in B.C.

The award, made public today by Local 16-601 of the Oil, Chemical and Atomic Workers' International Union, must be accepted by its Canadian headquarters, provincial executive board and the 600-plus members of the local, as well as three major oil companies.

If it is rejected by the union, members will apply for a strike vote to be taken, secretary Gerry Lebourdais said in Vancouver.

A strike would affect all marketing and refining operations of the major oil companies in B.C., with repercussions in public and private transportation.

ASKED 18 CENTS

Oil workers in Shell, Imperial and Standard operations sought 18 cents an hour wage increase, based on a 16-cent hike granted by the companies to their U.S. workers just across the border in Washington State, and other parts of the union.

The companies offered seven cents an hour on a one-year contract, which the union rejected.

The award, made by conciliator Peter Fisher, was for seven cents retroactive to Feb. 1, 1963, eight cents Feb. 1, 1961 and for three weeks' holiday after eight years' service instead of 10 years.

VICTORIA TO SEE THE BEST

The Victoria Day holiday weekend promises to be an exciting one at Victoria Riding Academy. Two of the top horse shows of the year, with many jumping events will be seen at the Cedar Hill Cross Road club grounds.

Leading mainland competitors will be seen with the best of the Island in both shows, a junior program on May 18 and a senior open series of contests on May 20.

Two top U.S. women judges will score the shows; Elaine Osborne of Portland on the Saturday and Donalda Mahan of Kirkland, Wash., on the Monday.

Both shows will start at 9:30 a.m. and will resume at 1:30 p.m. after luncheon breaks.

TWINS were discovered by Mrs. Thomas Moore, 879 Admirals Road, when she pulled down the skin of a ripe over-sized banana. But this doesn't mean that Mrs. Moore got two for the price of one, it was just part of a pound of bananas she bought Wednesday at the Schooner Cafe. Neither Mrs. Moore nor the proprietor of the cafe had ever seen this freak of nature before. (Times Photo.)

Car Crashes Giant Rock 'Dead Centre'

A Cedar taxi-driver whose cab crashed spectacularly into "Castle Rock" near the Malahat summit early Wednesday afternoon survived with head and chest injuries.

James A. Johnson, about 45, was in satisfactory condition today at King's Daughters' Hospital, Duncan, where he was taken by Kiwanis ambulance.

Shawnigan Lake RCMP said his cab, travelling south on the Trans-Canada Highway, smashed directly into the huge rock projecting between the highway and a scenic view cut-off.

Victoria naturalist Freeman King, who was driving a short distance behind the cab, said the other car had just crashed when he rounded an uphill curve and came upon the scene.

"He hit the rock dead centre. The wheels ran right up the face, and there wasn't a skid mark—no brake at all," Mr. King said.

The former district Boy Scout commissioner gave Johnson first aid while another motorist went for police.

He said Johnson had head and arm cuts and four cracked ribs.

"The steering wheel was buckled like a piece of tin, the motor was shifted and tires burst," Mr. King said.

JUNE 17

EDMONTON (CP)—Premier E. C. Manning of Alberta announced today a provincial general election will be held Monday, June 17.

The government received a five-year mandate in 1959 but traditionally has called an election every four years.

It will be the seventh time the Social Credit government has gone to the people for a mandate—the sixth under Premier Manning—since it swept into power under William Aberhart in 1935. Mr. Manning became premier June 1, 1943, shortly after the death of Mr. Aberhart.

In the last general election, June 18, 1959, Social Credit received a record 55.68 per cent of the popular vote and captured 61 of 65 seats in the House.

A-Test
Hopes Fading

WASHINGTON (UPI)—President Kennedy says hopes for a nuclear test ban treaty are fading fast and a new round of Soviet and American tests may well be in prospect.

Kennedy warned at his news conference Wednesday that failure to reach agreement now might doom for all time the effort to halt the nuclear arms race.

It was the President's most pessimistic statement yet on the subject. It indicated he had virtually abandoned hope of a favorable Russian reply to a last-ditch British-American proposal for intensified negotiations based on a new formula for policing the proposed ban.

REJECTION?

There was some speculation the President might have received a formal rejection from Premier Khrushchev, but this could not be confirmed. However, U.S. Ambassador Foy D. Kohler and under-secretary of State Averell Harriman already had reported the Russian leaders showed no enthusiasm for the proposal.

Kennedy said Russia and the West appeared to "be moving away from" an agreement and "if we don't get it now, I would think generally the genie is out of the bottle and we will never get him back in."

Strife in Syria

DAMASCUS, Syria (AP)—Pro-Nasser rioting and gunfire were reported again today in Damascus and Aleppo as the crisis between Nasserites and the ruling Ba'ath Socialists party continued in Syria.

Casualties were indicated in the northern city of Aleppo, where the army was trying to maintain a curfew. The government said a policeman was killed there Wednesday, many police were injured and a large number of arrests made.

A Western diplomat in Aleppo reported by telephone that crowds turned out in the pro-Nasser quarters of the ancient city. He said heavy gunfire was heard, followed by light firing through the morning.

The diplomat said most of the shooting apparently was directed into the crowds and "the army appears to have the situation in hand."

STUDENTS RIOT

In Damascus, hundreds of students shouting support for President Nasser seized control of Damascus High School and fired stones from the roof for three hours at police in the street below. Riot police finally dispersed the students by firing shots in the air.

Four other pro-Nasser demonstrations were reported in other sections of the city. The reports said armored cars moved in troops broke up the demonstrations by firing into the air.

No casualties were reported among the Damascus demonstrators, but several policemen were hurt by stones.

By HAROLD MORRISON

WASHINGTON (CP)—A high administrative source said today President Kennedy is concerned about a heavy flow of U.S. investment funds to Canada and its impact on U.S. international dollar deficits.

He also feels there is an urgent need to remove barriers to final implementation of the Columbia River power treaty.

This informant, close to the president, said Kennedy is ready to renegotiate the Columbia River treaty if Prime Minister Pearson so demands. But Kennedy's view is that any renegotiation must be limited. Otherwise the U.S. would feel Canada had broken her bargain to join in launching the big west coast power development.

This informant said also that Kennedy, in meeting with Pearson at Hyannis Port, Mass., Friday and Saturday, will seek to reconcile differences which under the Diefenbaker administration almost led to a complete breakdown in Canadian-American relations during the last 12 months.

'STIFF ATTITUDE'

It was the view in Kennedy's circle that this slowdown in relations arose not because of a U.S. working paper that may have fallen into Diefenbaker's hands, but because the Progressive Conservatives adopted a stiff attitude toward the U.S. in an attempt to recoup losses at the polls.

Kennedy feels unfinished business with the previous Canadian administration—the Columbia River treaty and Canadian acquisition of nuclear warheads—should be cleared up quickly.

This source emphasized that the U.S. will not charge Canada any money for Bomarc nuclear warheads which will remain under U.S. custody and control.

There will be no pressure by Kennedy that Pearson move quickly on this point.

In the same way, Kennedy is willing to ease pressure that Canada join the Organization of American States.

SEEK PARALLEL VIEWS
The spirit of Hyannis Port, he suggested, would be one of seeking parallel views on issues confronting the two countries. Some issues may be difficult to resolve because the Liberal leader has some strong views on international matters that may not be in accord with U.S. policy.

Kennedy would like Canadians to show more care about borrowing large sums in the U.S. financial market.

Aside from the political problem created by increased American investments in Canada, the U.S. government is trying to curtail the exodus of U.S. dollars and gold. Kennedy is concerned about the flow of U.S. dollars to Canada but the informant said he has no solution in mind and certainly will not impose government restrictions.

Col. Walters announced that ten minutes after Kennedy arrives he is expected to greet the arriving Canadian prime minister.

Haiti Raises

Before UN

UNITED NATIONS (AP)—Haiti asked the United Nations Security Council Wednesday to halt what it called repeated threats of aggression by the Dominican Republic. The Dominican Republic quickly denied the charges and proposed that the Dominican-Haitian dispute be left in the hands of the Organization of American States.

Representatives of the two countries exchanged charges as the 11-nation council took up the problem at the request of Haiti. They spoke as the chairman of the OAS council sent word he was coming to New York to confer with Haitian Foreign Minister Rene Chalmers.

Haiti's bid for African and Soviet Bloc support appeared to be making little headway.

Some African UN delegates questioned the wisdom of Chalmers in making the racial question a major factor in the Security Council's debate on the dispute.

on the export of dollars. It is simply something he wants to discuss with Pearson.

Noting that Canada's trade with Cuba has been drastically reduced over the last year, the informant said it would be Kennedy's hope that Canada might take still other measures to restrict trade and relations with Cuba but again this would be left for Pearson to decide. No pressure would be exerted.

The U.S. also is unhappy about Canada's wheat sales to Red China but after reviewing the strong support the Prairie provinces gave to the Progressive Conservatives in the last election, the administration has concluded there is little it can do to persuade the new Canadian government to change this sales policy.

I HEAR YOU'RE LOOKING FOR A SOPHISTICATED COMIC CHARACTER

YEAH, THOUGHT IT MIGHT TUNE UP THE STRIP

NOTICE THE NOSE, HARDLY WHAT YOU'D CALL BULBOS

AND OBSERVE MY FEET—DELICATE AND SLENDER

HE'S POSITIVELY THE SWEETEST YOUNG MAN I EVER DID MEET!

FOR THE FIRST TIME IN MONTHS, I CAN'T WAIT TO GET TO THE OFFICE TOMORROW!

WHAT DO YOU THINK OF BART WESTLAKE, MR. PAPAGORAS?

HE'S A REFRESHING PERSONALITY—AND ALMOST NAVE FOR A MAN HOLDING THE POSITION OF ASSISTANT TO THE EXECUTIVE VICE PRESIDENT!

I'M SO NERVOUS AND UNSETTLED, SO FLIGHTY, SO UNSURE OF MYSELF.

I'M SO SLOW AND CUMBERSOME, SO COMPLACENT, SO NEER-DO-WELLISH.

THAT OUGHTA CHEER-UP THE POOR DEVIL.

THOMPSON, THE TROUBLE WITH YOU IS THAT AS A NURSE YOU'RE ALWAYS DEALING WITH SICK PEOPLE! WHEN SOMEONE WHO'S WHOLESOME AND REFRESHING COMES ALONG, YOU CAN'T BELIEVE HE'S FOR REAL!

WHERE CAN THAT GABBY BIRD BE? WHAT'S HAPPENED TO HIM?

YEH—IT'S BONO JACK, ALIAS JIMMY-THU-JUICE.

BUT IS BONO JACK A VIOLINIST?

WELL, HIS KIND OF VIOLIN IS ALSO KNOWN AS A "TYPEWRITER"!

THE VASTNESS OF SPACE IS STAGGERING WHEN YOU THINK OF IT, FULLER!

YES, HERM, OUTSIDE THIS WIDE, WIDE ROOM WE LIVE IN THERE MUST BE OTHER ROOMS, AND OUTSIDE THEM, HUNDREDS OF OTHER ROOMS!

MAKES YOU FEEL SMALL, DOESN'T IT?

BRUJA DEL MAR! HEY, THAT'S THE FREIGHTER MY WIFE AND SON ARE ON!

ANY NEWS?

HERE'S THE MORNING BULLETIN. ANOTHER SHIP MISSING.

NAVY?

I GUESS THEY LEARNED THAT FROM WATCHING THE CIRCUS PEOPLE

MR. TRAIL, THIS IS THE SORT OF THING MRS. LE BEY OBJECTS TO.

WHY, DISTURBING THESE OLD FEMALE LOGGERS WHEN THEY'RE LAYING THEIR EGGS!

CHURCHILL PAINTS! ESENHOWER PAINTS! IT'S A SIGN OF LEADERSHIP!

HOWEVER, NEITHER OF THEM EVER TRIED TO CAPTURE THE ESSENCE OF CAMP SWAMPY

SCHOOL IS FUN, CHILDREN, AND YOU'LL LEARN TO LOVE IT! LOOK AT ME, FOR EXAMPLE, I LOVE SCHOOL SO MUCH, I NEVER REALLY LEFT IT! I'VE BEEN (CHUCKLE) COMING BACK EVERY DAY FOR 45 YEARS!
